Educators, Students, and Parents

Manitoba Education and Advanced Learning appreciates the cooperation of the many schools and school divisions whose students appear in the photographs that illustrate this support document. Thank you to the hundreds of nursery and Kindergarten children who played and learned during the development of this project. Thank you to the families who permitted us to photograph their children and their children’s work. Thank you to Manitoba’s Kindergarten and nursery school teachers who welcomed us into their classrooms, shared their stories and teaching ideas, read early drafts of this resource, and provided us with meaningful feedback.

Special thanks to all teachers who shared vignettes, learning stories, and photographs to document how learning unfolds in their classrooms. These included development team members, as well as teachers from various school divisions:

Hilary Carey

Louis Riel School Division

Eva Dowd and
Connie Lowe

St. James-Assiniboia School Division

Joanna Ford and
Carole McCurry

Brandon School Division

Jennifer Martin and
Kiersten Neufeld

Seven Oaks School Division

Tannis Nadorak

River East Transcona School Division

Nicole Staniforth

Seine River School Division

Thanks, also, to Wayne Serebrin, University of Manitoba, for his contribution to the debate on developmentally appropriate practice, and to Marietta (Mars) Bloch, from Let’s Talk Science, for her contribution to the discussion of science learning outcomes and inquiry learning.

Reading Recovery Teacher Leaders

Special thanks to Manitoba’s Reading Recovery teacher leaders for their advice to Kindergarten teachers: Sarah Arnold, Holly Cumming, Kathleen Farmery, Jennifer Flight, Tracy Genik, Linda Johnson, Vanda Mitri, Debbie Richards, Alison Simpson, and Kim Sourisseau.
