Contents

Introduction 1

How do issues concerning refugee and war-affected children fit into the current social, political, and educational context? 1

What is the purpose of this resource? 3

How is this document organized? 4

Companion documents 5

Part 1: Immigration and Settlement of Newcomers of Refugee Origins 6

What is the refugee situation worldwide? 6

What are some of the important trends in immigration to Manitoba? 7

What does the term "refugee" mean? 9

Why is it important to distinguish refugees from other immigrants? 10

How do refugees come to Canada and Manitoba? 10

What are some important facts about refugee immigration to Manitoba? 11

Where do refugees settle? 13

Do unaccompanied or orphaned youth resettle as refugees? 14

Part 2: The Effects of War and Resettlement 15

What do the terms trauma and child traumatic stress mean? 15

What is resiliency? What are protective and risk factors? 16

What are some of the common challenges refugees experience because of war or conflict? 20

What about refugee families and those left behind? 21

What are some of the common experiences and characteristics of refugee children and youth? 21

What role do religion and spirituality play? 26

Is there a model that may be helpful for understanding the major categories of challenges experienced by children who come to Canada from refugee backgrounds? 27

Why do we need to consider the whole child in developing supports for newcomer and refugee learners? 29

What do we need to consider regarding the assessment of war-affected and English as an additional language learners? 31

What are the elements of good educational practice with respect to learners from refugee and disrupted education backgrounds? 32

What are some of the curriculum strategies and classroom practices that are appropriate for learners with EAL and disrupted education backgrounds? 37

Part 3: Supporting Student Success in the Classroom 40

What can schools and teachers do to strengthen resiliency? 40

What can we do to help learners overcome blocks to learning? 41

How do we recognize learners who need more robust and intensive interventions? 43

How do we assess levels of risk? 44

How should educators respond to disclosure? 45

What is the importance of play and creative activities? 46

How does storytelling help in the healing process? 48

Do after-school and summer programs matter? 50

What are some examples of promising initiatives for higher needs refugee learners? 51

What are some examples of promising initiatives from other jurisdictions? 53

Part 4: How do we support teachers and staff working with refugee children and families? 55

What is vicarious trauma? 55

How do I know if I am experiencing vicarious trauma? 57

What can I do to prevent burnout and vicarious trauma? 59

What can our school do to prevent vicarious trauma or help people cope with it? 59

Part 5: Helping Refugee Children and Youth in Schools 61

How can we use a bioecological framework to support refugee and war-affected learners? 61

What do we need to consider in developing effective policies and plans for these learners? 65

What is a whole-school approach? 66

Why do we need a whole-school approach? 68

What is a refugee readiness school audit and how can it help us develop a school plan? 69

Part 6: Learning More About Refugee and War-Affected Learners and Families—A Bibliography of Selected Web-Based and Text Resources 70

Child soldiers—Children and war 70

Children and creative interventions 73

Cultural diversity 74

Mental health and supports for war-affected children and families 75

Refugees: General information 78

Resiliency 79

Stories and literary resources by and about refugees 81

Schools helping students affected by trauma 84

Supporting refugee children and youth, programming models, and resources 88

Talking to children 93

Vicarious trauma, secondary trauma, and compassion fatigue 94

Blackline Masters 96

Blackline master 1: Common stress and protective factors affecting young people of refugee background 96

Blackline master 2: Common strengths and challenges reflected by immigrant youth 97

Blackline master 3: A planning checklist for schools, families, and communities 98

References 101