

Understanding and Using Time Zones

Use the globe, a world atlas, and other resources to find information about time zones. Then, explain (in your own words) what each of the following terms means. Make sure everyone in your group understands time zones and can explain how they work.

Prime Meridian	Universal Time (UT)	Local Time
International Date Line	Time Zones	Daylight Savings Time

Using the world time zone map in your atlas, create a time problem for another group to solve. Be sure the problem is stated very clearly.
