

Anticipation Guide: Hunter-Gatherer and Agrarian Societies

Statement	Your reaction now (state reasons)	Your reaction at the end of the learning experience (state reasons)
1. Agriculture developed in Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas at the same time in history.
2. One of the biggest changes brought about by agriculture was that people started to build more permanent settlements.
3. Human populations grew more quickly in agrarian societies than in hunter-gatherer societies.
4. Agriculture was a major change in human societies because, for the first time, people tried to control the natural environment.
5. After the beginning of agriculture, hunter-gatherer societies eventually disappeared.
