ASSESS YOUR SCHOOL'S ENVIRONMENT

Assess whether or not you feel there will be any obstacles in developing a GSA at your school. If you think there will be opposition, who will oppose?

Check out the “School Climate Questions” and “School Climate Outlines” adapted from the Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Education Network’s Jump-Start Guide (page 8). Where does your school fit in?

Check out 10 Faith-Based Reasons to Support LGBTQ Inclusive Education (page 14).

For responses to parental objections, see “Answering Adults’ Concerns” from Around the Rainbow (page 16).

To find suggestions for potential allies, see Egale’s “Becoming an Ally” (page 18). This might be useful to share with students or teachers in your school who do not identify as LGBTQ.

Prepare yourself by thinking about possible allies. Which teachers, students, school staff members, including librarians and guidance counsellors, and administrators do you think will be strong supporters of your group?

What is your school’s demographic? How might you reach out to all students in your school community?

You are not required to have a reason for starting a GSA, but it never hurts to have some rationale for why you want one. Ask yourself the following questions: Are heterosexism, homophobia, transphobia, and/or biphobia problems at my school? Do lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, two-spirited, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) students want a supportive and safe space? Are there students who want to know more about the LGBTQ community? Are there students with LGBTQ parents, other family members, or friends?

According to Egale’s First National Climate Survey on Homophobia, Biphobia, and Transphobia in Canadian Schools...

- Two-thirds of lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, two-spirited, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) students feel unsafe at school.
- Over two thirds (70.4%) of all students hear homophobic expressions such as “that’s so gay” every day in school.

Use the statistics and information provided in this kit and on MyGSA.ca, Egale’s national LGBTQ safer schools and inclusive education website, to construct your argument.

- 51% of LGBTQ students have been verbally harassed about their sexual orientation and 21% have been physically harassed or assaulted about their sexual orientation.
- Almost three-quarters (74%) of trans youth have been verbally harassed about their gender expression and more than a third (37%) have been physically harassed or assaulted about their gender.
- 45% of youth with LGBTQ parents have been sexually harassed at school; over a quarter have been physically harassed or assaulted about the sexual orientation of their parents (27%) and their own perceived sexual orientation or gender identity (27%).
- Almost half (48%) of youth of colour, both LGBTQ and heterosexual, reported not knowing of any teachers or other school staff members who are supportive of LGBTQ students; only half (53%) would be very comfortable talking about LGBTQ matters even with a close friend.

According to Egale’s School Climate Survey Report “Youth Speak Up about Homophobia and Transphobia,”

- Three-quarters of LGBTQ students and 95% of trans students feel unsafe at school, compared to one-fifth of heterosexual students.
- Over a quarter of LGBTQ students and almost half of trans students had skipped school because they felt unsafe, compared to fewer than a tenth of non-LGBTQ students.
- Many LGBTQ students would not be comfortable talking to their teachers (four in ten), their principal (six in ten), or their coach (seven in ten) about LGBTQ matters.

FOR A MODEL OF A GSA PROPOSAL, SEE WHAT JOEY WRIGHT WROTE to the Greater Essex County District School Board regarding the establishment of a GSA at Walkerville Collegiate Institute in Windsor (page 24).

- Only one in five LGBTQ students could talk to a parent very comfortably about LGBTQ matters.
- Over half of LGBTQ students did not feel accepted at school, and almost half felt they could not be themselves at school, compared to one-fifth of heterosexual students.

Amendments made to The Public Schools Act in 2013 concerning Safe and Inclusive Schools, requires school boards to have a respect for human diversity policy and to ensure that the policy is implemented in each school in the school division or school district. This policy is also meant to “address training for teachers and other staff about bullying and prevention and strategies for promoting respect for human diversity and a positive school environment”.

The respect for human diversity policy must be prepared with “due regard for the principles of The Human Rights Code” and “must accommodate students who want to establish and lead organizations that

a) promote:

- gender equity
- antiracism
- the awareness and understanding of, and respect for, people who are disabled by barriers, or
- the awareness and understanding of, and respect for, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities

b) use the name “gay-straight alliance” or any other name that is consistent with the promotion of a positive school environment that is inclusive and accepting of all pupils.”

The Public Schools Act can be found at: <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/p250e.php>

Do your school and school board policies protect and affirm the rights of LGBTQ people? Do non-discrimination policies include sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression? Is proactive education regarding LGBTQ policies a priority?

Is anti-LGBTQ language discouraged or encouraged? Is this language and harassment rampant in your school? Do you hear words or phrases like “fag,” “dyke,” or “that’s so gay” often? Or is anti-LGBTQ language rare and is there opposition to it?

Is there a Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA) or other inclusive student group pertaining to LGBTQ matters at your school? If so, was there opposition to this club and do students feel safe attending meetings? If not, does this seem like something that would be encouraged or discouraged at your school?

Are LGBTQ themes and people fully integrated into your school’s curriculum and across a variety of subject areas? Do you learn about LGBTQ matters in Health and Sexual Education classes? Are LGBTQ topics and people discussed in other classes, such as English, History, and Media Studies? Is inclusive language used in all subject areas, including Math and Science, to make your school’s classrooms safer spaces and more inclusive, respectful, and welcoming learning and working environments for all members of school communities?

Are there books and materials with LGBTQ content and written by LGBTQ authors in your school's library? Are there books and materials with LGBTQ content and written by LGBTQ authors in your school's classrooms?

Is there school staff support for LGBTQ students at your school? Do staff members show compassion and respect? Is there health and guidance support for LGBTQ students? Is there information about available resources?

Are athletic programmes welcoming spaces for LGBTQ or gender-open students? Do athletic programmes exhibit practices of gender equity? Are anti-LGBTQ attitudes an issue?

Is there organized and vocal opposition to LGBTQ inclusion at your school? For example, have you heard things such as homosexuality being characterized as "sickness and sin"? Is there adult compassion, respect, and advocacy for LGBTQ inclusion? Do adults exhibit a commitment to social justice?

Are LGBTQ people visible or invisible at your school? Are there students or staff members with LGBTQ parents, other family members, or friends? Do they feel safe being open about their sexual orientation and gender identity or about their loved ones? Are LGBTQ students fully integrated into school life? Are LGBTQ students and other members of the school community treated equitably?

SCHOOL CLIMATE OUTLINES

Adapted from the Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Education Network's Jump-Start Guide

The NON-INCLUSIVE School

1. School and school board policies do not protect the rights of LGBTQ people.
2. Anti-LGBTQ language and harassment are rampant.
3. A GSA or other inclusive student group pertaining to LGBTQ matters is nonexistent and strongly discouraged.
4. Curricula are devoid of LGBTQ themes, people, and matters and inclusive language is not being used.
5. Books and materials with LGBTQ content or written by LGBTQ authors are nonexistent.
6. School staff support, including health and guidance, for LGBTQ students, families, and allies is nonexistent.
7. Athletic programmes are unwelcoming spaces for LGBTQ or gender-open students.
8. Organized and vocal opposition to any LGBTQ inclusion exists.
9. LGBTQ people are invisible and feel unsafe being open about their sexual orientation and/or gender identity; members of the school community with LGBTQ family members and friends also feel unsafe.

The RESISTANT School

1. School and school board non-discrimination policies may include sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression.
2. Anti-LGBTQ language is common in hallways and locker rooms and on the school grounds, though not in classrooms.
3. There is resistance to the formation of a GSA or other inclusive student group pertaining to LGBTQ matters and, in the case that there is one, students feel unsafe attending.
4. Curricular inclusion of LGBTQ matters is limited to clinical references in Health or Sexual Education classes and inclusive language is rarely used.
5. Access to books and materials with LGBTQ content or written by LGBTQ authors is limited.
6. School staff show compassion, but not necessarily respect, and information and support regarding LGBTQ matters, including health and guidance, are not generally accessible.
7. Athletic programmes are moving toward gender equity, but anti-LGBTQ attitudes remain an issue.
8. Adults feel discomfort and may believe there is danger in exposure to LGBTQ matters or people.
9. A “don’t ask, don’t tell” atmosphere exists for LGBTQ people.

The PASSIVE School

1. School and school board non-discrimination policies are inclusive of sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression and students and school community members are made aware of this.
2. There are few instances of intentional harassment against LGBTQ students, students perceived as LGBTQ, or students with LGBTQ parents, other family members, or friends.
3. The GSA or other inclusive student group pertaining to LGBTQ matters is tolerated and attended by a core group of people.
4. LGBTQ themes, people, and matters are occasionally included in English, History, and Health classes and inclusive language is generally used.
5. A variety of books and materials with LGBTQ content and written by LGBTQ authors are available.
6. School staff members, including Health teachers and guidance counsellors, have had training in LGBTQ matters and offer information and support in a respectful manner.
7. Coaches interrupt anti-LGBTQ behaviour; LGBTQ athletes are relatively safe, though not very visible.
8. The adult community is open to LGBTQ inclusion, but may not be sure how to achieve it.
9. LGBTQ people are moderately visible; they may be seen as “different,” but a relatively safe and respectful atmosphere exists.

The INCLUSIVE School

1. School and school board policies protect and affirm LGBTQ people; proactive education about such policies exists.
2. Anti-LGBTQ language and behaviour are rare and dealt with swiftly and decisively; anti-bias education that embraces respectful, inclusive language is common in classrooms.
3. The GSA or other inclusive student group pertaining to LGBTQ matters is visible, regularly attended, and considered as valid as any other club.
4. LGBTQ themes, people, and matters are fully integrated into curricula across all subject areas and grade levels and inclusive language is always used and openly discussed.
5. Books and materials with LGBTQ content and written by LGBTQ authors are visible and available to all students and school staff members.
6. School staff members, including Health teachers and guidance counsellors, work with outside agencies to provide outreach, support, and education to LGBTQ people as well as members of the school community with LGBTQ parents, other family members, and friends.
7. Education around anti-LGBTQ bias is a part of athletic programming; LGBTQ athletes are treated as equals on and off the playing field.
8. The adult community has prioritized LGBTQ inclusion as part of a larger commitment to social justice.
9. LGBTQ people and those with LGBTQ friends and family members are visible and fully integrated into school life; there is a high degree of comfort and acceptance regarding LGBTQ people.

Adapted from a TEACH (Teens Educating And Confronting Homophobia) resource.

1. Human dignity is paramount.
2. The ideals of compassion, acceptance, peace and love are shared by most religions and peoples throughout the world. Many religions have incredible histories of involvement with social justice and peace movements, activism, and a sense of duty to marginalized peoples.
3. Most religions share the belief that one should treat others like one would like others to treat oneself.
4. LGBTQ inclusive education does not teach that someone's religious values are wrong.
5. LGBTQ inclusive education works toward ensuring that each student has a safe environment in which to learn. Homophobia, biphobia and transphobia foster, condone, and wilfully ignore violence and hate.
6. The impact of disapproval and lack of acceptance opens individuals who identify as LGBTQ up to verbal, physical and emotional harassment, which are all forms of violence.
7. Sexual orientation is a prohibited ground of discrimination under the Canadian Charter of Rights as well as provincial/territorial Human Rights Codes. Gender identity is also included as a prohibited ground in some provinces and territories including Manitoba. Please visit www.egale.ca for a current list.

8. Homophobia, biphobia and transphobia hurt us all, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity. Often, anyone who is perceived to be LGBTQ is subjected to harassment and victimization. Homophobia, biphobia and transphobia enforce rigid gender roles and norms, deny individual expression, and perpetuate stereotypes, myths, and misinformation.
9. LGBTQ inclusive education is NOT sex education. It is not about discussing or describing explicitly sexual activities. Support groups, such as Gay-Straight Alliances (GSAs) that gather in schools serve as safe places that allow students to meet and discuss issues relevant to their lives and circumstances.
10. All human beings are valuable members of their communities regardless of their sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.

Adults within the larger heterosexual school community may have concerns and fears of their own. It is important to think through how to answer these questions in ways that are respectful of the diversity of opinions and values that adults share, that speak positively about GLBTTQ families and that reflect our role in providing safe, nurturing space for all children.

MY CHILD WILL BE INFLUENCED TO BE GAY OR TRANS.

Recognizing GLBTTQ families and playing with children from glbttq families will not change your child's sexuality or gender identity in any way.

MY CHILD WILL BE TAUGHT VALUES WITH WHICH I DISAGREE.

Your child will learn the values of care and respect of others, as well as safety and peace for everyone, all values that are compatible with your core values.

MY SON WILL BECOME A "SISSY."/MY DAUGHTER WILL BECOME A "TOMBOY."

Your children will become who they are intended to be, regardless of their exposure to friends whose parents may be GLBTTQ. Indeed, the exposure may help them to grow into adulthood as open-minded human beings with a broader, more inclusive view of the world.

THE “TRADITIONAL” FAMILY WILL BE DEVALUED.

The “traditional” family is only one of a variety of family structures. Families are created in loving relationships. Many families are made up of single parents who are alone through divorce, death of a spouse, or by choice; other families are supported by grandparents, aunts and uncles, or foster parents. Still others are blended families created by bringing children from other relationships. There are families with GLBTTQ parents. In essence, all kinds of families can be valued, supported and respected without threatening one particular form of family.

Brian Burke

b. June 30, 1955

Brian Burke is the former President and General Manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs and was publicly supportive when his late son, Brendan—student manager and video assistant of the RedHawks, the National Collegiate Athletic Association’s top-ranked hockey team—came out in 2009. He marched in the Toronto Pride Parade in 2010 with PFLAG in memory of his son.

Burke also presented a moving keynote speech on International Day against Homophobia and Transphobia, May 17, 2010, at the launch of Egale’s national LGBTQ safer schools and inclusive education website, MyGSA.ca.

b. June 6, 1935

Joy Kogawa (born Joy Nakayama) is an award-winning author and poet and a recipient of both the Order of Canada and the Order of British Columbia as well as numerous honorary degrees for her extensive body of writing as well as for her community activism. Kogawa’s most famous work, Obasan (1981), explores the horrifying tragedy of Japanese internment in Canada during World War II. As an Honorary Advisory Board Member of the Egale Canada Human Rights Trust, Kogawa is one of the notable Canadians who supports Egale’s work towards helping to make Canadian schools safer and more inclusive, respectful, and welcoming learning and working environments for all members of school communities.

Cyndi Lauper

b. June 22, 1953

Cyndi Lauper is an internationally renowned artist who has sold over 25 million records worldwide. As a self-described “unwavering advocate” for LGBTQ rights, she created the True Colours Tour which brought together Erasure, the B-52s, the Indigo Girls, Debbie Harry, and Joan Jett & the Blackhearts to raise awareness around issues facing queer communities. Lauper is also the Honorary Chairperson of the True Colours Residence: a permanent, supportive, and secure home for formerly street-involved LGBTQ youth in New York City. More recently, she formed the Give a Damn web campaign to draw attention to the persistence of inequalities based on sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression.

WHY SHOULD I BECOME AN ALLY?

There are many reasons to become an ally! One of them is to help create safer spaces for all people in your school or work environment. According to Egale's First National Climate Survey on Homophobia, Biphobia, and Transphobia in Canadian Schools...

-  Two-thirds of lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, two-spirited, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) students feel unsafe at school.
-  Over two thirds (70.4%) of all students hear homophobic expressions such as "that's so gay" every day in school.
-  51% of LGBTQ students have been verbally harassed about their sexual orientation and 21% have been physically harassed or assaulted about their sexual orientation.
-  Almost three-quarters (74%) of trans youth have been verbally harassed about their gender expression and more than a third (37%) have been physically harassed or assaulted about their gender.
-  45% of youth with LGBTQ parents have been sexually harassed at school; over a quarter have been physically harassed or assaulted about the sexual orientation of their parents (27%) and their own perceived sexual orientation or gender identity (27%).
-  Almost half (48%) of youth of colour, both LGBTQ and heterosexual, reported not knowing of any teachers or other school staff members who are supportive of LGBTQ students; only half (53%) would be very comfortable talking about LGBTQ matters even with a close friend.

According to Egale’s School Climate Survey Report “Youth Speak Up about Homophobia and Transphobia,”

“Studies have suggested that there is a link between bullying and suicide, and that there is a correspondingly high rate of ‘suicidality’ (suicide attempts and suicidal thinking) among LGBTQ students...[and] there is some suggestion that school attachment—the feeling that one belongs in the school community—is a crucial issue in this regard because of its connection to lower suicidality rates in the general school population and among LGBTQ students.”

More than half of LGBTQ students, compared to one-fifth of heterosexual students, agree that they do not feel accepted at school.

For more information, see <http://MyGSA.ca/YouthSpeakUp>.

HOW DO I BECOME AN ALLY?

→ Examine Your Own Biases

- Ask yourself questions: Do I feel uncomfortable around people who are LGBTQ? Is there more I need to learn about heterosexism, homophobia, biphobia, transphobia, and intersectionality? How can I get the information, help, support, advice, guidance, etc. that I need to overcome any biases I might have?

Do I tend to assume that people I encounter are not LGBTQ?

→ Educate Yourself!

- Read: there is no one all-encompassing LGBTQ manual that explains everything and can apply to all situations and perspectives, but there is a fair amount out there in terms of both fiction and non-fiction, depending on what you like and what interests you.

Good places to start are <http://MyGSA.ca/educators/books> and Egale's Equity and Inclusive Education Resource Kits, which can be downloaded from the MyGSA website.

- Ask questions: don't be afraid to admit that you don't know or understand something, but please remember to be considerate. Also remember that one person's opinion or perspective cannot stand in for everyone else's in the LGBTQ community. (Do you think the same way as all other heterosexual people?)

→ Pay Attention to Discrimination and Harassment and Speak Up!

If you hear someone use derogatory language about sexual orientation or gender identity or gender expression, engage the person in conversation about discrimination and harassment: ask why the person chose to use those words and if the person even knows what the words mean and that they are abusive.

Use gender-neutral and inclusive language, such as folks, people, everybody, crushes, couples, partner, spouse, parents and guardians, chairperson/chair, firefighter, server, and actor, which do not contain assumptions about sexuality or gender.

Don't laugh at offensive "jokes" about sexual orientation or gender identity or gender expression.

WHETHER OR NOT YOU KNOW IT—and they might not even know it yet!—there are very likely LGBTQ individuals, or people with LGBTQ parents or other family members, in your school or workplace who will appreciate your implicit support.

➔ Accept and Support Actively

Participate in your school's GSA or start one if your school doesn't have one! <http://MyGSA.ca/setting-gsa>

Volunteer at an LGBTQ human rights organization! <http://MyGSA.ca/gsas-canada>

Take part in Ally Week or create one if your school doesn't have one! <http://MyGSA.ca/meeting-event-ideas>

Find out if your school, school board, and/or workplace policies explicitly mention sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression—if not, work towards changing them! <http://MyGSA.ca/setting-gsa/school-board-policies>

Be sure MyGSA.ca isn't blocked at your school!

Some schools use filtering software to block access to websites that include keywords pertaining to certain matters, such as sex, and rely on the companies that develop the software to maintain the list of unacceptable sites. Although this might be done in the interests of blocking pornographic content, for example, an unfortunate consequence of such protocols is that many useful websites regarding important matters such as health and sexual orientation are also blocked. Be sure that MyGSA.ca isn't blocked at your school. If it is, ask your school administration to change the settings.

If MyGSA.ca continues to be blocked at your school, contact the Department of Education and Advanced Learning at mbedu@merlin.mb.ca, or Egale at 1.888.204.7777 (toll free) or mygsa@egale.ca and let us know.

➔ Come Out as an Ally!

Mention your friends and family members who are LGBTQ if you have any...but only if they are already out!

Bring up LGBTQ matters, events, and news items in a positive way in class and in conversations.

Check out the News on MyGSA.ca!

If coming out as an ally makes you at all uncomfortable, remember that LGBTQ individuals who are open about their sexual orientation/gender identity must come out again whenever they meet new people and imagine how that feels: knowing that one is in a supportive, inclusive environment or at least in the company of an ally really makes a difference!

Do you have more tips about becoming or being an ally? Share them on MyGSA.ca or send them to mygsa@egale.ca!

SELECTIONS FROM A PROPOSAL FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A GAY-STRAIGHT ALLIANCE (GSA) AT WALKERVILLE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE (WCI) IN WINDSOR

Submitted by: Joey Wright
Submitted to: Greater Essex County District School Board

Mission Statement

A Gay-Straight Alliance is a youth leadership organization that is devoted to education, human rights, and the human dignity of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and questioning youth, the development of positive relationships, and to raise awareness. The goal of this group is to:

1. Positively impact academic performance, school/social/and family relationships, comfort level with sexual orientation, sense of physical safety, student and teacher attitudes, perceived ability to contribute to society, and an enhanced sense of belonging to the school community;
2. Form alliances and positive relationships between gay and straight students to fight homophobia, isolation, marginalization, violence, and exclusion in the community;
3. Promote acceptance, respect, and tolerance of all individuals regardless of racial background, socio-economic status, gender, religion, or sexual orientation;
4. Raise awareness and promote education about homophobia and other forms of oppression; and
5. Offer support and resources for students in need.

What is a Gay-Straight Alliance?

A GSA is a student-run group that provides a safe place for any and all students to meet and learn about all different orientations, to support each other while working together to end homophobia, and to raise awareness and promote equality for all human beings. In addition to being a group dedicated to support, it also strives to educate the surrounding areas and the community on different gender and equality issues.

Why do all schools need to establish GSAs if requested?

I believe that it is vital to establish a GSA for numerous reasons, but most importantly, for education purposes. Additional justifications for the establishment of a GSA are to empower and educate the school community, advocate for just and equal policies that protect youth from harassment and violence, and organize in coalition with other school-based clubs and groups across identity lines to address broader issues of oppression. As young people, we possess the power to lead the fight against homophobia, transform our environment into one of peace and safety, and change the lives of countless individuals. Research indicates that homophobia interferes with the health development of all young people, particularly those who are dealing with issues of sexual orientation. One of the many places gay and lesbian youth feel the effects of homophobia is within their schools.

By Joey Wright

Youth in Canada desperately require more support and resources in their educational institutions in order to make them safe, secure, and inclusive learning environments.

As the results of the First National Survey on Homophobia and Transphobia in Canadian Schools, conducted by Egale Canada, demonstrate, LGBTQ (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, questioning) youth in Canada desperately require more support and resources in their educational institutions in order to make them safe, secure, and inclusive learning environments. There is a clear indication that this is the case: according to almost 1700 participants from every province and territory in the country, of the self-identified LGBTQ students, 60% have been verbally harassed, and over a quarter have been physically harassed, because of their sexual orientation and three-quarters feel unsafe at school. These upsetting results can no longer be ignored and the establishment of a GSA could reverse these alarming statistics.

How will this be an educational group?

Throughout the year we will be collecting resources and researching methods on how to help educate not only the students but also the teachers here at Walkerville. A lot of students are unaware of how gay-bashing affects the lives of the people around them. Terms like “faggot” and “dyke” are used daily in the halls of Walkerville. When this type of discriminatory behaviour is ignored the school consciously or unconsciously encourages this harassment. They need to be informed of ways to prevent this type of radical bullying against gay, lesbian, questioning, bisexual, transgendered, or straight students.

First-hand account

It's hard to be that person to stand up and change something. It's even harder when you're a teenager. Being the change can be the most terrifying experience ever. But through all the struggles and all the journeys, you somehow find yourself and move forward regardless.

When I was in Grade 10, I tried making a Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA) at my high school. My guidance counsellor told me that, according to division policy, the group was not allowed to advertise in the form of posters or announcements. This upset me, but I decided that I would make the group anyway in hopes of making some sort of difference. I tried my hardest to advertise but nothing seemed to be working. I got so discouraged that I just disbanded the group and went on with Grade 10 feeling like I had failed. I felt so uninspired.

In Grade 11, I was inspired by Bill 18, Manitoba's anti-bullying legislation. Bill 18 made it mandatory that all publicly funded schools must accommodate Gay-Straight Alliances. I finally thought that someone was listening to me, and I grasped onto this new hope of making a GSA once again. I went to the administration at my school, and they told me again that it was division policy that a GSA may not advertise itself. This time, I decided that enough was enough; I was not backing down. I brought media attention to the situation in hopes of getting my story out and showing my school division that I was serious.

I eventually had to meet before the board of my school division to convince them to change their policy on GSA advertising. I was given 10 minutes, and, to be honest, it was a frightening experience. I walked into the room full of the 14 people who run my entire school division. It definitely felt intimidating. The following day, I was told by my superintendent that I had succeeded in changing the board's mind, and that it was now division-wide policy that a GSA may advertise in the same way as any other student group. Prior to meeting with the superintendent, I had major butterflies in my stomach. I was so anxious to see what the answer would be. When I got a "yes", I wasn't sure how to respond or how to feel— I just felt very overwhelmed and overjoyed.

All I remember was leaving the division office and clutching my fist into the air as I walked to my car. I won. It took me a while to process what I had done. I never believed that I could be the person to change something so huge. Especially being 17 at the time. My life has changed so much since then. And I'm so grateful for all the support I've gotten, all the people I've met, and the lessons I've learned. Something I've learned especially is that you CAN change things if you work hard enough. If you let go of your insecurities, pay no attention to negativity, and fight for what you believe in, anything's possible.

– Manitoba Student

First-hand account

In most respects, I live a normal teenage life. I read lots, hang out with friends, play video games, and pine for a significant other. There's nothing particularly remarkable or even all that stylish about me. I forgo tight jeans and bright sneakers for comfier pants and black cross-trainers. I don't own a single band shirt or even a character tee. I'm a pretty normal— even sort of drab— guy.

But what if I told you I was gay?

Would your opinion of me change, would you suddenly see me differently? Would you start analyzing my walk, trying to find some sort of sublimated hip twist, or examine my hand gestures for the trademark limp wrist? Would you ask me if I was certain, or (like my parents) just tell me it wasn't happening at all?

I went through many years of confusion and angst. To be honest, they still aren't over. My parents tried like anything to convince me it was just a phase, all in my mind. My dad told me about his own high-school crisis of sexuality, my mom about the time she'd practiced kissing with her sister. The stories didn't help; neither did the smug "I know where you are, and I know what will happen to you" attitude that seemed implicit in the tellings.

For years afterwards, whenever I was attracted to a pretty girl (and I'm attracted to both sexes. I just like boys more) I would wonder if this wasn't it, if the charade hadn't stopped and I was about to discover my true sexuality— straight. Usually I would agonize about it during the day, but at night, all I ever thought about were guys.

After informing my parents multiple times that males were my preferred partners for romance and otherwise, they seemed to accept it. To this day, it's an uncomfortable subject for them, and they still seem to have trouble wrapping their heads around it— but they haven't kicked me out, they don't hate me, and they would never try to force me to change. In those respects, I know, I'm luckier than a lot of people.

In the years since my coming out, I've had many cool opportunities. I helped found a GSA, spoke at a conference, and attended some others. I've made new friends, fellow LGBTQ people who I thought I'd have to wait 'til university to find. It's been really good, and I've no doubt it will get better.

So now that I've told you my story, you're probably wondering what the moral is. Well, I guess it's that we LGBTQ folks are everywhere. We're every colour, every religion, from every nation. Often we don't look any different than anyone else— so pray modulate your words. You never know if the kid laughing along at your “fag” joke has been inwardly crushed. Lord knows it's happened to me a good few times.

A GSA Makes High School Tolerable

By Sara Kenny, Garden City Collegiate Gay-Straight Alliance

High school sucks. Being raised by a high school teacher, I was aware of this fact for a very long time. High school is where personalities clash and your face turns into a breeding ground for volcanoes while you and every single person around you is going through the awkward transition from childhood to the real world. I knew what I was getting into on my first day of Grade 9.

I never really thought about it much more than that. High school was the place where I'd have to morph into an adult for all to see and there was nothing else to it. All I had to do was keep my head down and get to the other side alive. Trying not to cringe at the mention of "that's so gay" in the halls was another pretty big aspect of my life too.

Three years ago, I heard an announcement for Garden City's first-ever Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA). There would be snacks for all that attended. Free lunch and a safe space? Of course I was down. It took some time to get into the groove of things in the GSA, but through being a part of it, I came to one of those after-school-special realizations: I didn't have to let high school suck as much as it did, I could actually do something to try to make things better. Mind blowing, I know.

So that was what I decided to do. Since then, I've been there on every opportunity I've had. Bake sales? Of course I was there, selling delicious brownies. Rainbow ribbons needed making? I was so there. Bill 18 getting opposed? Guess who was collecting signatures in support of it? Although attendance at the actual weekly meetings has sometimes been pretty low, through all these other experiences I've seen countless allies come out of the woodwork to help us and show their support. Teachers have put up Safe Space stickers in their windows and I haven't even heard "that's so gay" or other homophobic slurs being yelled out as much as I used to. Either I've gotten a less cynical disposition, or the fact that we have a GSA has actually gotten rid of a good chunk of that hate. I'd place my bets on the latter.

So yes, I still firmly believe that high school sucks, I just also believe that it can suck a little less when you want it to.

FOLLOW ALL SCHOOL AND SCHOOL BOARD POLICIES AND GUIDELINES

Establish a GSA in the same way that any other group or club in your school would be formed. Follow the guidelines or board policies of your school. Students may need an administrator's or a teacher's permission. Enlisting the help of other students may be beneficial.

Amendments made to The Public Schools Act in 2013 concerning Safe and Inclusive Schools, requires each school board to establish a respect for human diversity policy, and to ensure that the policy is implemented in each school in the school division or school district. The policy is to promote the acceptance of and respect for others in a safe, caring and inclusive school environment. In preparing its respect for human diversity policy, a school board must have due regard for the principles of The Human Rights Code." To find out more, see <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/p250e.php>

Manitoba's Human Rights Code prohibited grounds for discrimination include both sexual orientation and gender identity. To find out more, see <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/h175e.php>

Some provincial Human Rights Commissions in Canada have specific policies around discrimination and harassment because of sexual orientation or gender identity. For an example see:

<http://www.ohrc.on.ca/en>

IF YOU ARE UNABLE TO FIND YOUR SCHOOL DIVISION'S diversity, equity and inclusive education policy on its website, ask your principal for a copy of it.

FIND A SCHOOL STAFF ADVISOR /SPONSOR

Even if your school doesn't require staff advisors or sponsors for clubs, it will likely be beneficial to have one. Find a teacher or staff member that you feel will be supportive and a good ally for your group. Try to include both LGBTQ and non-LGBTQ advisors in your group if at all possible.

SPEAK TO YOUR SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

Encourage your school administration to become an ally, even if it is not required that you involve them in the establishment of your group. They can help validate your GSA as an important part of the school and help with things like planning special events or bringing in speakers for school assemblies. Administrators can be important liaisons between students, teachers, parents, the outside community, and board or district officials. It can also be beneficial to provide administrators with information about GSAs or details about your group.

IF YOU THINK THAT YOUR SCHOOL'S ADMINISTRATION might not be supportive, review the statistics and policy information in "Assess your School's Environment" (Section 1) beforehand.

INFORM GUIDANCE COUNSELLORS, SOCIAL WORKERS, LIBRARIANS, AND OTHER RESOURCE PEOPLE

School staff may know students who would be interested in attending meetings and can help with getting more group participants. Having staff involved can also be beneficial because they may have professional knowledge and valuable resources for your group and may help facilitate discussions and meetings.

FIND A MEETING PLACE

Have your meetings in a safe and comfortable location in your school that is somewhat private. Some students may feel a little reluctant or nervous about attending a GSA meeting because they may fear being harassed or having assumptions made about their sexuality or gender identity. Remember that safety and confidentiality should always be primary concerns.

ESTABLISH A PLAN AND GUIDELINES

Select a meeting time that that will be most convenient for the participants. Decide whether or not your GSA should hold meetings on a weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly basis. It is always good to create group rules/norms with all members of the GSA, but it can also help to think of or draft some preliminary guidelines. For example:

See “How to Run a GSA Meeting—Meeting Formats and Ideas” (page 36).

- What tools or supplies will be needed (e.g., paper, pens, films, etc.)?
- What ground rules will help reaffirm responsible and respectful behaviours?
- Will the meeting be held in a formal or casual way (i.e., seating, speaking in turn, etc.)?

Establish your meeting space as a safe space and create a mission statement. Discuss the nature and purpose of the GSA that is suitable for your school (support, providing safe spaces, raising visibility and awareness, and/or effecting educational and social change). Brainstorm possible activities and topics of discussion for future meetings.

See the “Sample Safe Space Protocol” from Supporting Our Youth (SOY) (page 41) and “Icebreakers” from the Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Education Network’s Jump-Start Guide (page 42) as well as the “Activities” (Section 10) for help and suggestions!

There are numerous ways to facilitate a meeting. Your GSA meetings can be formal (e.g., similar to a classroom structure) or informal (e.g., sitting in a circle). They can be very structured and planned or they can be spontaneous and open to change, and so forth. It is a good idea to get input from all GSA members regarding how meetings will be structured and what the guidelines or group rules will be. A survey/questionnaire accompanied by an open discussion during the first meeting is a good way of figuring out how your GSA meetings will operate.

Consider the following examples for some help:

If you want a formal structure...

- people raise their hands when they want to speak (one person at a time, with no interruptions);
- everyone introduces themselves (e.g., their names and 1 or 2 things about themselves);
- a student acts as a leader/facilitator who does most of the speaking and guides the conversation and questions;
- use a structured and timed schedule (e.g., meetings are 1 hour long, with 15 minutes of introductions and an outline of the agenda, another 15 minutes of discussion on a particular topic, another 15 minutes for games, and so on);
- sign in to monitor participation;
- assign different tasks to various members for the next meeting (e.g., one person will bring in a favourite LGBTQ film and another person will bring snacks); and
- take meeting minutes and document what was discussed/done.

Meeting Minutes

Meeting minutes are a written record of a meeting. Your GSA can appoint a person to record the meeting minutes. This can be one person who does the minutes for all the meetings or you can change the person from meeting to meeting. Your GSA can choose to audio-record the meeting, in which case all participants would have to agree to this, or someone can write or type the meeting minutes. Remember that minutes are just the highlights or a summary and don't need to be lengthy.

Your meeting minutes might include the following:

- The date, time, and location of the meeting
- A list of those present
- The meeting agenda (what your GSA plans to do this meeting)
- A list of the issues your GSA wants to resolve (e.g., a heated debate that occurred at the last meeting; how to battle homophobia/transphobia/biphobia/heterosexism in your school; and so on)
- Any events/discussions that were important to the GSA's members
- Any group decisions that were made (e.g., group rules, future activities, and so on)
- The end time of the meeting

Your GSA can choose to audio-record the meeting, in which case all participants would have to agree to this.

HOW TO RUN A GSA MEETING cont'd

Sample Meeting Minutes

GSA Meeting Minutes for Egale High School
(Feb. 4, 2011)
(3:00 p.m., school library)

MEETING MEMBERS:

Present: Rita Bhattacharia, John White Bear, Douglas Smith, Elizabeth Drucker, Jen Kyumoto, Marc Porter, Jasmine Chan, Geneva Peschka, and Sayid Alizadeh

OTHERS PRESENT:

Librarian: Sheila Jackson

Guidance Counsellor: Mr. Touhy

MEETING AGENDA:

- Small start-up discussion (recent events, how is everyone, etc.)
- Film: Better than Chocolate
- Discussion: transphobia, trans-specific matters, gender-neutral washrooms

PROCEEDINGS/EVENTS:

- John and Elizabeth mentioned the idea of having a school bake sale to raise money for more LGBTQ literature for the school library—group thought it was a good idea
- Rita expressed her concern about the GSA's posters being defaced—each member will brainstorm ideas for next meeting to have a discussion about it
- Watched film
- Debriefing after movie—all group members shared that they liked the film; Jen mentioned she wants to learn more about trans people and their various experiences; Sayid recommended checking out YouTube for personal videos made by transmen and transwomen and their experiences
- Group discussed plans for next meeting: Douglas wants to talk about the possibility of a gender-neutral washroom in the school; Sheila said she could compile a list of LGBTQ books for the group members; the group decided to have a poster party at the next meeting to have more posters to put around the school
- Meeting adjourned at 5:30 p.m.
- Minutes submitted by Bhata Bhattacharia

If you want an informal structure...

people sit in a circle or in a way that they all feel as though there is no hierarchy in the meeting;

people speak in turn (e.g., clockwise around the circle) or use a talking stick (anything that is passed around to indicate who has the floor—only someone holding the object should be speaking) or there is open dialogue (and everyone is respectful of other people's right to speak);

try some fun icebreakers as a way to get people to introduce themselves and get to know one another (for examples, see page 42);

you don't need to have a group facilitator; the meeting events and activities can be agreed upon by everyone or the majority (e.g., there can be various things planned and the order in which they occur can be decided on by the group; participants may choose to have open dialogue surrounding an issue for an entire meeting or to break up the meeting into various activities and tasks they would like to do); and everyone can come up with one group rule/norm and see if all members agree.

Other things to consider:

- It is important to get input from group members not just during the first meeting, but also throughout all of the meetings. You could use a box for suggestions or hold weekly or monthly "how are we doing" discussions.
- It is important to appeal to all group members. This can be difficult because everyone has different interests and likes different activities. It is best not to have a narrow focus, e.g., only talking about gay and lesbian matters and concerns and not talking about trans, questioning, bisexual, or two-spirited communities.
- Remember that it may be hard for people to open up and talk about certain subjects immediately. It may help to avoid controversial and sensitive issues/topics at first. Wait until group members get to know one another and express a sense of comfort in the group.
- It can really help to review or debrief at the end of meetings. Talking about what has been discussed can be especially important if conflicts arise, sensitive issues are touched upon, or if members have questions about certain things.

What do we mean by a safe space? A safe space is free of any type of discrimination for queer, trans, and questioning youth. Everyone has the right to feel safe and included. A safe space is an environment in which everyone feels comfortable expressing themselves and participating fully, without fear of attack, ridicule, or denial of experience. For the comfort of other group members, it is expected that public displays of affection be brief and respectful. This means no making out in group. Any adults involved are strictly prohibited from engaging in romantic or sexual relationships with youth.

Common Ground

Source: Kerry Ashworth

Students and faculty advisors stand in a circle. One person begins by saying “I’ve got a younger sister” or some other statement that is true for them. Everyone for whom this is also true steps into the center of the circle. Everyone who doesn’t have a younger sister stays on the outside. You can always choose not to step into the circle. The game often brings up personal and important issues that students may not want to discuss in a more formal setting. This also allows everyone to recognize their differences and similarities.

Gender Stereotypes

Trace a male and a female body type on butcher paper, then have a free-for-all where everyone writes as many gender stereotypes as they can think of on the bodies where they would apply (for example, “boys are good at math” would be placed on the head of the male body). From here, you can talk about how gender stereotypes and traits relate to perceptions about gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people, as well as how these stereotypes limit our possibilities, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity. These exercises can also be done using stereotypes of LGBT people, helping us recognize that everyone has different traits that don’t define our sexual orientation or gender.

Concentric Circles, Inner/Outer Circles

Source: Jason Fleetwood-Boldt

This exercise works well to open dialogue. It requires an even number of people, with a minimum of six or eight. It works best with 20 or more. Have people count off by twos (1, 2, 1, 2...). Tell the ones to make an inner circle and the twos to form the outer circle. The inner circle should face outward and the outer circle should face inward, so that each person has a partner in that circle. The facilitator instructs that they will ask a question and the outer circle is to talk for one minute as the inner circle listens. If it is a group whose members don't know one another, you can have people introduce themselves to their partners before they begin answering the question asked. After the minute is up, the inner circle answers the same question. Then the outer circle moves clockwise two people over, so everyone has a new partner. A new question is asked of the outer, then inner, circles. When finished, participants should discuss their conversations as a large group.

Sample Questions:

- Growing up, what were all of the names (positive, negative and neutral) that you heard related to lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people?
- Growing up, what were some of the stereotypes you heard about lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people? What were some of the things you heard about these groups that you have found to be inaccurate?

ADVERTISE YOUR GROUP

Work with your GSA's advisor/sponsor and other members to discuss the best ways to advertise your group. Posters are an effective means of getting more participation as they can be displayed around the school for all students to see. They are also an important part of helping students feel safer at school as they are a visible sign of acceptance. Having a poster party can be a fun way to design and make the flyers. You can also consider making a Facebook group or a webpage if you really want to get creative! You want to continuously monitor participation and see what tactics work in terms of finding and keeping members.

Remember, if posters get torn down or defaced, do not get discouraged! The posters are likely to stimulate school-wide discussion and may lead staff and students to express their personal feelings, opinions, and questions surrounding the GSA. Not all comments will be queer-positive, but breaking the silence is a vital step in addressing and challenging the many stereotypes and myths about LGBTQ individuals. Keep putting posters up if they are destroyed. It is a good idea to put them in busy areas as well as to encourage supportive staff members to place them on their doors and in staff areas. You might want to consider putting your posters behind glass in order to discourage people from destroying them.

Once your group makes posters, take a picture of them and submit it to appear at the top of Egale's national LGBTQ safer schools and inclusive education website, MyGSA.ca!

Things to consider when advertising:

- Make sure your posters set a positive tone for your group.
- Reinforce the fact that all students are welcome, including allies and all students who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, two-spirited, queer, and questioning and who come from any ethnic, cultural, or religious background.
- Include meeting times, locations, and dates.
- Think about including a short description about what goes on at your meetings and be sure to highlight that supportive allies are welcome to attend.
- Emphasize that student confidentiality and safety are guaranteed.
- If your GSA creates a Facebook group, advertise it.
- Use LGBTQ-affirming symbols on your posters, such as the rainbow flag or pink and black inverted triangles.

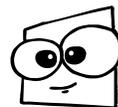

See the section on Symbols in this kit or on MyGSA.ca for more ideas!

Additional tips for finding new members:

- Personally asking people to come to your meetings can really help, especially if they don't know what your club is about and want to know more before going. Try starting a conversation with someone who you think might be interested in attending a meeting.
- Make sure to make use of any of your school's print publications, such as newspapers, magazines, yearbooks, and newsletters.

- Having sign-in sheets can help you stay in contact with members (e.g., ask people to put down their emails or to join your Facebook group). Sign-in sheets are also great ways to keep track of how many people are attending your meetings.
- Working with other school clubs to plan shared events and activities is a great way to network. Think about some other groups at school that deal with related matters. Try asking your advisor if she or he knows of any other clubs that might be interested in collaborating.
- Setting up a table or bulletin board for your group can be a great way to give out information about your club and its events. Consider tabling during school events or finding another time to reach out to the student body.
- Encourage members and visitors to invite their friends. One idea is to schedule a “Bring a Friend Day” when every member brings a friend to the meeting!
- Consider holding special events for members of the GSA. Inviting a guest speaker or watching topical movies can be great conversation starters and are often effective in engaging group members. Think about what topics or questions you might want to explore at these events and then search for speakers and films that could address these areas.

Check out the “Activities” (Section 10) for movie suggestions!

PROVIDE INCENTIVES (E.G., FOOD!)

Food can be a great icebreaker. It can give nervous attendees something to look forward to and for some it can be an excuse to attend. You can foster a sense of community by encouraging group members to bring in snacks to share with everyone or by planning events, activities, or campaigns around food, such as potlucks and bake sales.

potlucks

sales

ACTIVITIES

Consider taking pictures of your club's activities and posting them on MyGSA.ca!

HAVE AN OPEN MIC NIGHT

Do you have an untapped talent? Play an instrument? Ever wanted to try stand-up comedy? Want to read your poetry or somebody else's? Can you juggle? Do acrobatics or magic tricks? Sing? Can't sing? (Karaoke is always a good time!)

Find a stage at your school, community centre, or a local theatre organization. Ask someone to host your event and remember to prepare a sign-up sheet ahead of time. Have fun!

CREATE A MISSION STATEMENT

Does your group have a vision for itself, the school community, the world? What is it?

Your GSA's mission statement might focus on your club's goals and values as well as principles related to human rights, diversity, and social justice. It can also be beneficial to enlist the help of all the members since the statement should reflect everyone's perspectives. Mission statements tend to be 2 to 3 sentences and should say who you are, what you do, what you stand for, and why you do it.

Examples of Mission Statements

DIS for DAT: Diversity in Sisler for the Dignity and Acceptance of all Teens, Sisler High School, Winnipeg

DIS for DAT looks to meet the needs of our LGBT community, to provide loving education to members of our community that feel challenged by the LGBT community and to reach out and support needy citizens in Winnipeg.

*Maples GSA, Maples Collegiate,
Winnipeg*

Maples GSA provides a safe space for any student to seek advice, make friendships, and feel acceptance. We focus on information, advocacy for LGBTQIA issues, and provide a safe atmosphere for all.

HAVE A MOVIE NIGHT

Watch LGBTQ movies and discuss them afterwards. E.g.,

Films, videos, and other multimedia educational and commercial resources may be very effective tools for exploring issues related to diversity of sexuality, gender identity/expression, and inclusion within a GSA support group or within the classroom. However, it is critical that teachers or other facilitators working with learners in GSA groups or other settings carefully preview, select, and plan for the use of these resources to ensure that they are used effectively and that learners benefit from viewing and discussing the film, video or other multimedia resource.

The listed films that follow have been found by some teachers and LGBTQ facilitators to be potentially useful resources. However, they have not been reviewed through a Manitoba Education and Advanced Learning formal resource review process, nor are they endorsed by the Department, and they do not carry a Manitoba recommended designation. Film and multimedia resources, as with all other literature or educational resource selections should be reviewed by school division staff before they are used by students. In this way, learner sensitivities and the perspectives of the student population, as well as the appropriateness of the resource for the intended learning objectives are taken into account. In addition, the effectiveness of a particular resource will depend greatly on what the teacher or facilitator does in terms of preparing the audience before viewing, as well as the needs and interaction of students during and post viewing.

FIND/CHANGE SCHOOL AND SCHOOL DIVISION POLICIES

What is your school's policy on LGBTQ matters? Your school board's policy? Are they inclusive and do they explicitly address sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression?

If not, or if they are not satisfactory, as a group and using the information, policies, and legislative information provided in this kit and on MyGSA.ca, work towards changing them!

Amendments made to The Public Schools Act in 2013 concerning Safe and Inclusive Schools requires each school board to establish a respect for human diversity policy, and to ensure that the policy is implemented in each school in the school division or school district. The policy is to promote the acceptance of and respect for others in a safe, caring and inclusive school environment. In preparing its respect for human diversity policy, a school board must have due regard for the principles of The Human Rights Code. The policy must accommodate student activity that promotes the school environment as being inclusive of all pupils, including student activities and organizations that use the name 'gay-straight alliance'."

For more information see: <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/p250e.php>.

In addition, several school divisions (to date) have policies that relate to respect for human diversity which are specifically focused on sexual orientation and gender identity.

Winnipeg School Division (WSD) was the first to adopt human rights/anti-homophobia initiatives in 1999. These included mandatory human rights/ anti-homophobia training for teachers (existing and new hires). In 2004 WSD adopted a Human Rights Policy and in 2012 they adopted a new Diversity and Equity Education Policy.

In 2012, two other school divisions adopted similar policies:

- Louis Riel School Division has a Respect for Human Diversity: Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity policy
- Seven Oaks School Division has a Safe Learning Environment for LGBTTTQ Students policy.

You can read more about three of these policies further on in this section.

Please note that amendments made to The Public Schools Act passed in September of 2013 may require these policies to be revised to align with the new requirements.

Check your school division's website for its respect for human diversity policy. If the policy is comprehensive and inclusive regarding sexual orientation and gender identity, submit it to Egale's national LGBTQ safer schools and inclusive education website, MyGSA.ca, as an example of a good school board policy.

IF YOU ARE UNABLE TO FIND YOUR SCHOOL DIVISION'S respect for human diversity policy on its website, ask your principal for a copy of it. If your principal doesn't have a copy, phone your school division to find out what its policy is regarding LGBTQ matters.

See the sample school division policies included here (page 56) for comparison.

USING THE RESOURCES AND GUIDANCE PROVIDED HERE,

review and evaluate your own school division 's policy. If your school division 's policy does not address LGBTQ matters, or is not comprehensive enough, approach your GSA's school staff advisor/sponsor, another staff member at your school, your principal, or a parent to ask for support in changing it.

FOLLOW UP WITH YOUR PRINCIPAL and if the school division does not change its policy, contact Egale Canada at mygsa@egale.ca or 1.888.204.7777 (toll-free) for assistance.

Several school divisions in Manitoba already have policies that relate to respect for human diversity. Three are included here for your convenience, along with two gender based violence policies from the Toronto and Vancouver school boards.

WSD Diversity and Equity Education Policy

Policy: IGAB

Approved: October 1, 2012

1. GENERAL PHILOSOPHY

- 1.1 The Winnipeg School Division is committed to an educational philosophy that recognizes the fundamental equality of people of all origins and abilities. It supports and accommodates the acceptance, respect and appreciation for all people, their languages and cultures, for their commonalities as well as their differences.
- 1.2 Diversity and Equity Education endeavours to prepare students with the knowledge and skills to function socially, emotionally, politically, and economically in Canadian society. Students will be provided with opportunities to:
 - develop a positive self-image;
 - become contributing members of Canadian society;
 - enjoy equal rights in a diverse and inclusive learning environment.
- 1.3 The Winnipeg School Division is committed to meeting the diverse needs of all learners.
- 1.4 The Diversity and Equity Education policy supports, and is congruent with, existing Winnipeg School Division policies.
- 1.5 Diversity and Equity Education is the process of making education reflect a belief of the basic equality of all people irrespective of gender identity, sexual orientation, age, ethnic origin, ancestry, culture, socio-economic status, religion, family status, mental and physical disability. Learning environments present opportunities to transform diversity into benefits and advantages for all.

- 1.6 Diversity and Equity Education is an integral part of all school programming within the established outcomes of the curricula approved by Manitoba Education.

2. DEFINITION–DIVERSITY AND EQUITY EDUCATION

- 2.1 Diversity encompasses all the ways in which human beings are both similar and different. It means understanding and accepting the uniqueness of individuals, as well as respecting their differences. Diversity may include, but is not limited to gender identity, sexual orientation; age; ethnic origin; ancestry, culture; socio-economic status; religion; family status; mental and physical disability.
- 2.2 Equity refers to the provision of equitable opportunity, equitable access to programming, services, and resources critical to the achievement of outcomes for all students and the staff who serve them. Equity and equality are not necessarily synonymous, as equity can be achieved through unequal means.

3. GOALS OF DIVERSITY AND EQUITY EDUCATION

- 3.1 The general goals of Diversity and Equity Education in The Winnipeg School Division shall include:
 - (a) The development of positive attitudes toward diversity within our communities;
 - (b) The development of an understanding of, and respect for the individual's identity, and;
 - (c) The development of an understanding of, and respect for the identity of others in a diverse society.

4. CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

- 4.1 The Winnipeg School Division is committed to providing students with the opportunities to acquire the knowledge, skills, attitudes, and values necessary to live in and contribute to a complex and diverse world by:
- (a) Ensuring that the principles and practices of Diversity and Equity Education permeate teaching and learning in all subject areas;
 - (b) Ensuring that teaching and learning resources accurately reflect Canada's diverse communities.

5. ASSESSMENT AND PLACEMENT

- 5.1 The Winnipeg School Division is committed to assessment and programming decisions that are sensitive to students' diverse backgrounds, including personal and/ or family experiences by:
- (a) Assuring bias does not limit a student's access to programming and placement and that such decisions be evidence based;
 - (b) Ensuring that parents/guardians are able to consider and make informed choices about their child's educational program and in cases where students are 18 years or older that they are provided with support and opportunities to make informed choices about their educational programs;
 - (c) Providing ongoing assessment, programming, and placement decisions that meet individual student needs and offer opportunities for students to reach their potential. This process must take into account: gender identity, sexual orientation, age, ethnic origin, ancestry, culture, socio-economic status, religion, family status, mental and physical disability, previous education and the student's future plans.

6. STAFF DEVELOPMENT

- 6.1 The Winnipeg School Division is committed to providing learning opportunities and training for all employees to enhance their competencies and sensitivity in working effectively with students, parents, staff and community members of diverse backgrounds.

7. SCHOOL-COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

- 7.1 Effective school-community partnerships involve representation and active participation from the members within the community which allows for the inclusion of perspectives, experiences, and the identification of the needs which will enhance educational opportunities for all learners. The Winnipeg School Division recognizes the need to create an inclusive environment in which all students, parents, staff and community members from diverse backgrounds feel welcome and included.
- 7.2 The Winnipeg School Division shall continue to support relationships that promote effective participation in the education process by:
- (a) Encouraging parent advisory councils, school based parent-teacher committees and parent centres to be reflective of the diverse communities they serve;
 - (b) Ensuring communication with parents and community partners is respectful of their language and culture;
 - (c) Providing opportunities for the school community to enhance their mutual understanding of, and respect for diversity;
 - (d) Ensuring staffing practices in accordance with policy GBA-Employment Equity.

8. RESPONSIBILITIES

- 8.1 The Chief Superintendent, or designate, shall be responsible for the implementation of this policy.
- 8.2 The senior administration shall ensure members of their departments implement the general goals of Diversity and Equity Education policy.
- 8.3 The principal shall be responsible for ensuring that the general goals of the Diversity and Equity Education policy are implemented in the school.
- 8.4 All employees shall be responsible for ensuring that their practices and conduct are consistent with the general philosophy and goals of Diversity and Equity Education.
- 8.5 The Professional Support Services Personnel shall be responsible for providing assistance to the instructional staff in the development of an awareness of Diversity and Equity Education, appropriate instructional strategies, assessment and resources.

Louis Riel School Division Policies, Guidelines and Procedures

Policy: RESPECT for HUMAN DIVERSITY: SEXUAL ORIENTATION and GENDER IDENTITY

Adopted: December 20, 2011

I. POLICY

The Louis Riel School Board bases its commitment to promoting respect for human sexual diversity on the following values and beliefs:

- Commitment to equity and respect for human diversity are fundamental values of the public education system
- Honouring and achieving the divisional Vision and Mission depends upon safe, inviting and inclusive learning environments and workplaces that respect human diversity
- Sexual orientation and gender identity form significant and integral aspects of the unique development and personality of every child and young person
- All students and employees have the right to learn and work in environments free of negative conduct or actions based on gender bias, sexual stereotyping, sexual orientation or gender identity

II. GUIDELINES

- A. The Louis Riel School Division will strive to promote respect for human sexual diversity within its schools, learning environments and workplaces.
- B. The Division's staff has the responsibility to promote respect for human sexual diversity, and to support learning environments and workplaces that are free of negative conduct or actions based on gender bias, sexual stereotyping, sexual orientation and/or gender identity.

- C. To support Guidelines A and B, the Division is committed to providing resources and professional learning experiences that support all employees and students to honour the provisions of this policy.
- D. The Division expects students to support safe and inclusive learning environments by respecting human diversity and refraining from expressing negative conduct or actions based on gender bias, sexual stereotyping, sexual orientation and/or gender identity.
- E. The Division is committed to responding to any students or parents whose need for information about gender identity or sexual orientation leads them to request supports, including but not limited to resource materials, counselling services or other supports available through school or divisional personnel.
- F. “Gender Identity” refers to an individual’s sense of self as “male”, “female”, or an identity between or outside those categories (Public Health Agency of Canada).
- G. “Sexual orientation” is the term used to describe an individual’s sexual, psychological and emotional feelings of attraction towards another person (Public Health Agency of Canada).

III. PROCEDURES

- A. The Division shall provide regular opportunities for professional learning that meets staff needs, roles and responsibilities, including but not limited to foundational training and other professional learning opportunities about sexual orientation and gender identity.
- B. The Superintendent of Schools & CEO or designate will direct processes that enhance, as needed, divisionally reviewed resources for all schools’ libraries, with reference to divisional Policy IJ – Selection of Instructional Materials.

- C. All schools will implement appropriate provincially approved curricula that supports student learning about human sexual diversity.
- D. The Superintendent of Schools & CEO or designate shall direct processes to assess the implementation of this policy and guide the divisional communication plan's support for sexual diversity, as part of the Division's ongoing planning processes per Policy ILC – Divisional Data Collection Initiatives.
- E. To respond to actions that contravene this policy, the Division and its school Principals shall reference, as necessary, the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the Manitoba Human Rights Code and divisional policies, including but not limited to:
 - ACF/G Interpersonal Relations and Resolution of Concerns about Harassment/Discrimination
 - ADD Safe Schools
 - JFCE Responsible Use of Technology in the Learning Environment
 - JK Student Behaviour in the Learning Environment
 - JICI/JICK Responses to Use of Weapons/Violent Behaviour
 - JKD/E Student Suspension/Expulsion

Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms

The Constitution Act [1982], which includes the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, is the supreme law of Canada. As such, all other laws and applicable workings of governments, including school boards, must be consistent with its provisions. The Charter and Supreme Court of Canada decisions made under the Charter guarantee everyone equality regardless of race, national or ethnic origin, citizenship, colour, religion, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, age or mental or physical disability. The Charter and Supreme Court decisions also promote the development of programs designed to redress the conditions of disadvantaged individuals or groups.

Manitoba Human Rights Code

The Human Rights Code of Manitoba recognizes the individual worth and dignity of every member of the human family, and this principle underlies the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, and other solemn undertakings, international and domestic, that Canadians honour.

Implicit in the above principle is the right of all individuals to treatment that is solely based on their personal merits, and to equality of opportunity with all other individuals, in all matters.

Seven Oaks School Division Safe Learning Environment for LGBTTTQ Students

Policy: #JA

Adopted: April 9, 2012

The Seven Oaks School Division is committed to ensuring a safe positive and respectful learning environment for all student who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit or who are questioning their sexual orientation or gender identity. This respects the letter and spirit of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, The Manitoba Human Rights Code and the Seven Oaks School Division Mission Statement.

Harassment

The Division will provide a safe environment free from harassment and discrimination. Homophobic harassment is demeaning treatment of all student, parents and guardians and employees regardless of sexual orientation.

Any language or behaviour that degrades, denigrates, labels, stereotypes, incites hatreds, prejudice, discrimination, harassment towards students or employees on the basis of their real or perceived sexual orientation or gender identification will not be tolerated.

Staff will deal with issues or harassment proactively by educating students to value diversity, respect difference and behaviour accordingly. Where necessary progressive discipline will be used to eliminate homophobic harassment.

Student Support

The Seven Oaks School Division is committed to maintaining a safe learning environment which provides counselling and support to students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. All counsellors employed or contracted by the Division shall be educated in the knowledge and skills required to deal with LGBTTTQ issues with students. Counsellors will be informed and familiar with all policies with respect to human rights, anti-homophobia, hate literature, discrimination and harassment and will inform their school community to these policies. All staff will be sensitive to lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and questioning students as well as students from LGBTTTQ families.

Schools are encouraged to designate staff persons to be a safe and available contact for students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. Schools are encouraged in their school planning to advocate for students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity and those who are questioning their gender identity. Gay/Straight Alliance clubs (GSAs) or other student action groups dealing with discrimination and harassment are encouraged at secondary schools in the Division.

Curriculum and Learning Resources

The Division is committed to enabling all lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and questioning students to see themselves and their lives positively reflected in the curriculum. Resources should be chosen or updated in order to promote critical thinking and include materials that accurately reflect the range of Canada's LGBTTTQ communities.

Staff Development

The Division will ensure ongoing staff development in support of this policy.

The Toronto District School Board’s Gender-Based Violence Policy

Policy P071

Adopted: April 14, 2010

Here is an example of a school district policy that has included LGBTQ issues within the context of gender-based violence. The result is that issues like homophobia, biphobia and transphobia and harassment related to real or perceived gender identity or sexual orientation are included in an already important discussion. This makes it more likely that school staff will be able to detect these forms of bullying, discrimination and harassment, understand their gravity, and to know how to intervene.

1.0 OBJECTIVE

To establish the Board’s commitment to eliminating gender-based violence in its school

2.0 DEFINITIONS

Gender-based violence is any aggressive action that threatens safety, causes physical, social or emotional harm and denigrates a person because of his or her gender identity, perceived gender, sexual identity, biological sex or sexual behaviour.

It is important that policies also include references to perceived gender, sexual identity, biological sex or sexual behavior.

Straight and cisgender students (and adults) may also be experiencing homophobia, biphobia or transphobia because of society’s stereotypes of masculine and feminine behaviour and appearance.

The Toronto District School Board's Gender-Based Violence Policy cont'd

Gender-based violence includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Sexual assault (perpetrator aged 12 years and over)
- Inappropriate, problematic and intrusive sexual behaviour (perpetrator under age 12 years)
- Sexual exploitation (perpetrator an adult employee/ victim a student)
- Sexual misconduct
- Sexual harassment
- Sexist discrimination
- Domestic violence
- Emotional abuse
- Psychological abuse
- Forced prostitution
- Homophobia
- Transphobia
- Harmful gender-based social practices, e.g. female genital mutilation

Gender-based violence operates on a societal imbalance of power and control based on social constructions of sexual identity, sexual orientation, gender, perceived gender and sexual behaviour. This imbalance may manifest in multiple forms as aggressive and discriminatory behaviours and expressions of hatred. (See the next page for information on gender-based violence.)

3.0 RESPONSIBILITY

Executive Superintendent, School Services, East

4.0 POLICY

4.1. Reporting Incidents of Gender-based Violence

- (a) All employees of the Board shall report any concerns about or incidents of gender-based violence in the school community to the school principal.
- (b) All allegations of sexual assault perpetrated by persons 12 years of age and older and/or sexual misconduct by children under 12 years of age shall be reported to the appropriate Board employee.
- (c) Any act or concern of gender-based violence that takes place off school property, including use of electronic media, and has a negative impact on a school's environment shall be reported and responded to.

This policy reaches beyond what might happen in the halls or on school property, which is crucial especially with the advent of cyberbullying.

4.2. Notification and Investigation

- (a) In situations where a student has been physically or emotionally harmed, the appropriate supervisory and School Services staff shall be notified.
- (b) Employee Services shall be notified of any incidents of gender-based violence involving Board staff. Where staff have a complaint against students or other staff, the Human Rights office shall be notified.
- (c) Principals shall be the first point of contact for investigating incidents.

The Toronto District School Board's Gender-Based Violence Policy cont'd

4.3. Compliance and Accountability

As with all Board policies, all staff are expected to be compliant with this policy and its related procedures. Failure to comply may lead to disciplinary action.

4.4. Prevention Strategy: Staff Development

- (a) Gender-based violence policy and procedure training shall be mandatory for all staff.
- (b) All school-based staff shall receive annual training on responding to incidents of gender-based violence.
- (c) Professional learning opportunities for administrators, superintendents, teachers and support staff shall focus on the causes of gender-based violence, prevention strategies and Board policies and procedures for responding to gender-based violence.

Training–
and ongoing
training–

are key to creating an environment that is safe. Not all violence is obvious, and sometimes homophobic, biphobic and transphobic comments can be missed because they often play into the stereotypes society has about gender that we are constantly bombarded with in the media.

4.5. Prevention Strategy: Professional Supports

- (a) An interdisciplinary team shall be established to deliver both policy implementation training and programs that focus on the development of student, staff and parental involvement related to raising awareness, developing school-based action plans and coordinating system-wide student-led activities.

This gets the whole school community involved and makes this policy a living, breathing document.

- (b) Superintendents and principals shall work with the appropriate staff to access professional support staff on a priority basis for incidents of gender-based violence involving students.
- (c) Resources shall be realigned to establish programs at both the high school and junior-intermediate levels for students who have engaged in repeated acts of gender-based violence in order to support the re-integration and re-engagement of these young people into society and prevent future incidents.

4.6. Student Engagement

- (a) Students will have the opportunity to participate in gender-based peer education programs that examine the roots of gender-based violence and its impact on females and males, healthy relationships and equality among marginalized groups.
- (b) Issues related to gender-based violence such as healthy relationships, sexuality, gender stereotyping and homophobia shall be integrated and reinforced in subjects across the curriculum. Integrating these issues into the curriculum signal their importance as well as ensuring that all students learn about them.
- (c) Primary prevention programs for students in elementary and secondary schools shall be designed to be comprehensive, coordinated, sequential, developmental, and that create both an awareness of, and a framework for dealing with, gender-based harassment and violence. Starting in elementary school is appropriate because we are exposed to stereotypes that perpetuate violence and discrimination in the media from an early age.

The Toronto District School Board's Gender-Based Violence Policy cont'd

4.7. Coordination

- (a) Establish a position where the sole responsibility is the co-ordination and oversight of all initiatives relating to gender-based violence.
- (b) Establish an advisory body consisting of representatives from legal services, human rights, professional support services, caring and safe schools, guidance, health and physical education, equity, health and safety, employee services, the Anti-Bullying Committee, superintendents of education, principals, and students who shall meet regularly to advise the Gender-Based Violence Policy (GBVP) Coordinator on policy implementation and prevention strategy. The advisory body will consult with external partners as required.
- (c) Establish a policy implementation team, both East and West, consisting of one Superintendent of Education and Principal and the North - South Chiefs of Social Work to advise the GBVP Coordinator and help facilitate policy and procedure training in each quadrant.

4.8. Communication

- (a) Policies and resources relating to sexual assault and gender-based violence shall be posted in schools and shall form part of the orientation process for all staff and students at the commencement of each year and be included in all student agendas.
- (b) Relevant information shall be prepared for each of the employee groups, parents and community partners on gender-based violence and harassment.

4.9. Evaluation

Research tools shall be developed that ensure prevention programs are regularly evaluated to determine their effectiveness and to identify areas for improvement. An annual report will be made to the appropriate standing committee.

5.0 SPECIFIC DIRECTIVES

The Director is authorized to issue operational procedures to implement this policy.

Information about Gender-based Violence in Schools

Gender-based violence in schools has far-reaching consequences to students, their peers, their families and the community at large. According to the Province's Safe Schools Action Team, it needs to be seen in the context of bullying. One-third of students experience bullying and one-third report having bullied someone else. Bullying has a negative impact on school safety, school climate and student learning. It can be severe, persistent and pervasive to such a degree that it limits a student's ability to participate in or benefit from an education program and creates an educational environment that is hostile and threatening.

The consequences for victims can include depression, loss of appetite, nightmares, disturbed sleep, low self-esteem and feelings of being sad, afraid, scared, or embarrassed. In terms of student learning, victims reported a loss of interest in school activities, increased absenteeism, decreased quality of school work, poor grades, increases in skipping, dropping classes, tardiness and truancy. While female students are disproportionately affected by gender-based violence, research has shown that males more often than females receive and make homophobic comments.

Students are not the only victims of gender-based violence in schools. Significant numbers of teachers and other staff complain that they have been sexually harassed by students and other staff members.

The Toronto District School Board's Gender-Based Violence Policy cont'd

Gender-based violence, including sexual assault and sexual harassment, is occurring at alarming rates and is largely going unreported¹. Measures relating to the protection of youth against sexual assaults, including those aimed at timely reporting of sexual assaults and anti-bullying programs have not succeeded in eliminating gender-based violence. These programs need to be combined with preventative education including gender-based peer education programs that examine the roots of gender-based violence and its impact on females and males, healthy relationships, and equality among marginalized groups, as well as the creation of “safe space” programs that use peer facilitators to lead open discussions amongst vulnerable groups.

¹ Findings of the School Safety Advisory Panel (2008) and the Ministry of Education's Safe Schools Action Team (2009).

The Vancouver School Board's LBTTQ Policy

This is another example of a policy that very clearly outlines the desire to create safe spaces for LGBTQ students and staff. Policies are important for recognizing and acknowledging that there is an issue, for raising awareness and getting administrators and staff talking about it – as well as for working for change. The clearer the policy is at including LGBTQ issues – and explaining their impact and importance – the better, since clarity leaves little room for personal interpretation.

Intent

Vancouver Board of Education of School District No. 39 (Vancouver), Vancouver, B.C. is committed to establishing and maintaining a safe and positive learning environment for all students and employees including those who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, or who are questioning their sexual orientation or gender identity. These students and employees, as all students and employees, have the right to learn and work in an environment free of discrimination and harassment. The letter and spirit of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the B.C. Human Rights Acts and the Collective Agreements shall be carefully observed, enforced, and supported, so that all members of the school community may work together in an atmosphere of respect and tolerance for individual differences. Specifically, the Board will not tolerate hate crimes, harassment or discrimination, and will vigorously enforce policy and regulations dealing with such matters.

The Board will provide a safe environment, free from harassment and discrimination, while also promoting proactive strategies and guidelines to ensure that lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and

By including LGBTQ explicitly in this policy, there is no question who is included. One way homophobia, biphobia and transphobia manifest is by exclusion and lack of recognition of the lived experiences of (and different barriers that exist for) LGBTQ individuals. “Queer” is missing from this list.

The Vancouver School Board's LGBTQ Policy cont'd

Pro-active strategies and guidelines are just as important as those that are reactive – perhaps even more so if they are effective.

questioning students, employees and families are welcomed and included in all aspects of education and school life and treated with respect and dignity. It is wonderful that this policy is so explicit! “Welcomed and included in all aspects of school life” is broad enough and clear enough at the same time to address homophobia, biphobia and transphobia wherever it appears. The purpose of this policy is to define appropriate behaviours and actions in order to prevent discrimination and harassment through greater awareness of and responsiveness to their deleterious effects. Greater awareness is a crucial component of creating safer spaces for LGBTQ individuals. This policy is also drafted to ensure that homophobic complaints are taken seriously and dealt with expeditiously and effectively through consistently applied policy and procedures. The policy will also raise awareness and improve understanding of the lives of people who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. By valuing diversity and respecting differences, students and staff act in accordance with the Vancouver district’s social responsibility initiative.

Leadership

The Vancouver School Board shall ensure that all staff will be able to identify individual discriminatory attitudes and behaviours, as well as work to eliminate the systemic inequities and barriers to learning for students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity and demonstrate accountability for their removal so that all students are treated with fairness and respect. Being able to identify individual discriminatory attitudes and behaviours as such is key. Homophobic comments like "That's so gay" have become common and accepted parts of youth language and are often not seen for the damaging effect they have on LGBTQ individuals and how they are perceived. Systemic barriers are even harder to notice when they are not impacting you personally. But by clearly outlining both of these as areas of focus, the Vancouver School Board acknowledges that discrimination happens through individuals as well as through policies and systems.

All administrators, teachers, counsellors, and staff and student leaders will communicate the board's position to their employees, staff and students. In the course of their leadership roles, they will commit to listen to lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and questioning youth and their designated support groups and take concrete actions to make schools more welcoming and safer places for these students. This is amazing - because who better to tell you what is happening and how they are affected than the people who are experiencing it? The Board shall consult with the LBTTQ Advisory Committee to ensure that policy directions, priorities and implementation of programs and services are consistent with this LBTTQ policy.

An Advisory Committee specifically for LGBTQ issues is a good idea to help (and keep) attention to the need for safety and awareness.

The Vancouver School Board's LGBTTQ Policy cont'd

Counselling and Student Support

The Vancouver School Board is committed to maintaining a safe learning and working environment which actively provides counselling and support to students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. All counsellors provided by the board shall be educated in the knowledge and skills required to deal with LGBTTQ issues with students. Counsellors who are educated on LGBTQ issues are very important because their role is to support and guide people who are struggling. Homophobia, biphobia and transphobia in this environment can be particularly damaging since it flies in the face of what we expect. Furthermore, for some students seeing a counsellor may be their last resort, so timely and appropriate intervention may be even more crucial. Counsellors will be informed and familiar with all policies with respect to human rights, anti-homophobia, hate literature, discrimination and harassment, and will alert their school community to these policies. Counsellors will be sensitive to lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and questioning students as well as students from LGBTT-headed families.

Homophobia, biphobia and transphobia are experienced by children of LGBTQ parents because of their family structure. These students may fall under the radar because they themselves are straight or cisgender, but the attack on one's family can be just as impactful.

Elementary and Secondary Schools are encouraged to appoint a staff person to be a safe contact for students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. School administrators should inform students and other staff about the location and availability of this contact person. Schools are encouraged in their goal planning to advocate for students who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity and those who are questioning their gender identity. Where students request and where staff are willing to volunteer their time, Gay/Straight Alliance clubs (GSAs) will be encouraged at Secondary Schools in the District.

Students who come from LGBTQ families are not included in this list, and should be (see last two comments above).

Even heterosexual

individuals can be victims to homophobic (or biphobic or transphobic) harassment if they do not conform to society's expectations of masculinity or femininity, and are perceived as LGBTQ.

Anti-Harassment

Homophobic harassment is demeaning treatment to all students, students' parents or guardians, and employees regardless of their sexual orientation. Harassment based on gender identities is also demeaning to all students and employees. These forms of harassment and discrimination are prohibited under the B.C. Human Rights Code. Any language or behaviour that deliberately degrades, denigrates, labels, stereotypes, incites hatred, prejudice, discrimination, harassment towards students or employees on the basis of their real or perceived sexual orientation or gender identification will not be tolerated. Schools will be encouraged to specifically include the prohibition of such language and behaviour in their student codes of conduct. Please refer to the "General Anti-Harassment VSB Policy." Naming these behaviours and including them explicitly in the code of conduct is important in order to raise awareness and visibility as well as to increase the likelihood that action will be taken. This will leave less room for interpretation.

Curriculum Learning Resources

Anti-Homophobia Education strives to identify and change educational practices, policies, and procedures that promote homophobia, as well as the homophobic attitudes and behaviours that underlie and reinforce such policies and practices. Anti-homophobia education provides knowledge, skills, and strategies for educators to examine such discrimination critically in order to understand its origin and to recognize and challenge it.

The Vancouver School Board's LGBTIQ Policy cont'd

Seeing yourself and your life reflected positively in the curriculum is important to self esteem and engagement. Omissions speak just as loudly as negative messages about the value society places on a particular experience or reality.

Beyond individual behaviour, the curriculum is full of messages about what and who has value. By educating staff about systemic homophobia, biphobia, transphobia and heterosexism (and how they manifest) staff can critically examine the curriculum they use including their own language. Awareness can be raised by using offending examples as teaching tools to show how homophobia, biphobia, transphobia, heterosexism and cisnormativity manifest themselves.

The Board is committed to enabling all lesbian, gay, transgender, transsexual, two-spirit, bisexual and questioning students to see themselves and their lives positively reflected in the curriculum. Resources should be chosen or updated in order to promote critical thinking and include materials that accurately reflect the range of Canada's LGBTIQ communities. Keeping in mind the multicultural aspect of the district, as many of the above resources as possible should be available in different languages and in formats easily accessible to ESL students.

Staff Development, In Service, and Professional Development

The Vancouver School Board is committed to ongoing staff development in anti-homophobia education and sexual orientation equity for trustees and Board staff, and will assist them to acquire the knowledge, skills, attitudes and behaviours to identify and eliminate homophobic practices. The Board will provide in-service training for teaching and support staff in anti-homophobia methodologies to enable them to deliver an inclusive curriculum. The Board will also provide in-service training for employees to deal effectively and confidently with issues of homophobia, heterosexism and gender identity and support initiatives that foster dialogue to create understanding and respect for diversity.

LGBTQ individuals exist in every culture, all over the world. Curriculum materials should reflect the diversity within LGBTQ communities, regardless of the diversity of the students in the district, as part of preparing students to be global citizens.

There are still many countries around the world where sexual orientations other than heterosexual are illegal and some where same-sex relationships are punishable by death. In most jurisdictions around the world transgender people face some form of discrimination, often including state-supported violence, intimidation, and a lack of access to medical care.

Training and professional development should extend beyond school staff so that all members of the school community receive these important messages (regardless of how they identify).

Positive messages are important for creating a safe environment because they set the tone in the school and send a message to the school community of who is valued and important. This is proactive.

Reactive support is just as crucial as proactive support. Immediate recognition and intervention are necessary to ensure schools are safe for all members of the school community.

As communities and legislation change, ongoing dialogue is important to keep informed about the needs and realities of LGBTQ individuals and how best to create and sustain safe spaces.

Having LGBTQ parents and parents of LGBTQ students on parent advisory councils helps to create inclusive schools because the needs and realities of LGBTQ parents and LGBTQ students can be represented and considered in decision making .

School-Community Involvement

The Vancouver School Board is committed to ongoing, constructive and open dialogue with lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender communities and other communities who identify themselves on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity to increase cooperation and collaboration among home, school and the community.

The Board will work to create partnerships that ensure effective participation in the education process by representative and inclusive organizations and LGBTTQ communities that are committed to the mission of the VSB. (To enable students to reach their intellectual, social, aesthetic and physical potential in challenging and stimulating settings which reflect the worth of each individual and promote mutual respect, cooperation, and social responsibility.)

The Board will encourage parent advisory councils to reflect the diversity of the District. The Vancouver School Board will acknowledge through its communication to students, staff, and the community that some children live in LGBTT-headed families and need to be positively recognized and included as such. Any information to students and parents on anti-homophobia, anti-discrimination and sexual orientation equity needs to be translated into the languages spoken in the home. Parent Advisory Councils and students will be encouraged to engage in dialogue with openly identified LGBTTQ youth and their organizations.

Employment Equity

The Board of School Trustees (the “Board”) believes in equitable treatment for all individuals regardless of race, colour, ancestry, ethnic origin, religion, socio-economic status, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, physical or mental ability, or political beliefs. The letter and spirit of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the B.C. Human Rights Acts and the VSB/VTF Collective Agreement shall be carefully observed, enforced, and supported, so that all members of the school community may work together in an atmosphere of respect and tolerance for individual differences.

The Board will ensure that the confidentiality of the sexual orientation and gender identity of staff will be protected. Employees who are out as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or transitioning to another gender will be given the support they require to do their work in a safe and respectful environment.

Want some ideas and tools to explore sexual and gender stereotypes? Check out the following:

- Heterosexual Questionnaire
- Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack II– Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity

Adapted from the work of Dr. Martin Rochlin (1972)

LGBTQ persons are often confronted with questions and assumptions about their lives that are stereotypical, incorrect and disrespectful. This questionnaire can help non-LGBTQ people understand what it feels like to be faced with these assumptions. It can be used to raise awareness of heterosexual privilege and bias.

1. What do you think caused your heterosexuality?
2. When and how did you first decide you were a heterosexual?
3. Is it possible your heterosexuality is just a phase you may grow out of?
4. Could it be that your heterosexuality stems from a neurotic fear of others of the same sex?
5. If you've never slept with a person of the same sex, how can you be sure you wouldn't prefer that?
6. To whom have you disclosed your heterosexual tendencies? How did they react?
7. Why do heterosexuals feel compelled to seduce others into their lifestyle?
8. Why do you insist on flaunting your heterosexuality? Can't you just be what you are and keep it quiet?
9. Would you want your children to be heterosexual, knowing the problems they'd face?
10. A disproportionate majority of child molesters are heterosexual men. Do you consider it safe to expose children to heterosexual male leaders?
11. With all the societal support for marriage, the divorce rate is spiraling. Why are there so few stable relationships among heterosexuals?

12. Why do heterosexuals place so much emphasis on sex?
13. Considering the menace of overpopulation, how could the human race survive if everyone were heterosexual?
14. Could you trust a heterosexual therapist to be objective? Don't you fear s/he might be inclined to influence you in the direction of her/his own leanings?
15. Heterosexuals are notorious for assigning themselves and one another rigid, stereotyped sex roles. Why must you cling to such unhealthy role-playing?
16. With the sexually segregated living conditions of military life, isn't heterosexuality incompatible with military service?
17. How can you enjoy an emotionally fulfilling experience with a person of the other sex when there are such vast differences between you? How can a man know what pleases a woman sexually or vice-versa?
18. Shouldn't you ask your extremist co-horts, to keep quiet? Wouldn't that improve your image?
19. Why are heterosexuals so promiscuous?
20. Why do you attribute heterosexuality to so many famous lesbian and gay people? Is it to justify your own heterosexuality?
21. How can you hope to actualize your innate homosexual potential if you limit yourself to exclusive, compulsive heterosexuality?
22. There seem to be very few happy heterosexuals. Techniques have been developed that might enable you to change if you really want to. After all, you never deliberately chose to be a heterosexual, did you? Have you considered aversion therapy or Heterosexuals Anonymous?

Now that you have completed the questionnaire, reflect on the experience and share your thoughts with others in your group.

DAILY EFFECTS OF STRAIGHT PRIVILEGE

This list is based on Peggy McIntosh’s article on white privilege (Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack) and was written by a number of straight-identified students at Earlham College who got together to look at some examples of straight privilege. These dynamics are but a few examples of the privilege which straight people have. Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and queer-identified folk have a range of different experiences, but cannot count on most of these conditions in their lives.

On a daily basis as a straight person...

- I can be pretty sure that my roommates, dorm-mates, and classmates will be comfortable with my sexual orientation.
- If I pick up a magazine, watch TV, or play music, I can be certain my sexual orientation will be represented.
- When I talk about my heterosexuality (such as in a joke or talking about my relationships), I will not be accused of pushing my sexual orientation onto others.
- I do not have to fear that if my family or friends find out about my sexual orientation there will be economic, emotional, physical, or psychological consequences.
- I did not grow up with games that attack my sexual orientation (e.g., fag tag or smear the queer).
- I am not accused of being abused, warped, or psychologically confused because of my sexual orientation.
- I can go home from most meetings, classes, and conversations without feeling excluded, fearful, attacked, isolated, outnumbered, unheard, held at a distance, stereotyped, or feared because of my sexual orientation.
- I am never asked to speak for everyone who is heterosexual.
- I can be sure that my classes will require curricular materials that testify to the existence of people with my sexual orientation.

- People don't ask why I made my choice of sexual orientation.
- People don't ask why I made my choice to be public about my sexual orientation.
- I do not have to fear revealing my sexual orientation to friends or family. It's assumed.
- My sexual orientation was never associated with a closet.
- People of my gender do not try to convince me to change my sexual orientation.
- I don't have to defend my heterosexuality.
- I can easily find a religious community that will not exclude me for being heterosexual.
- I can count on finding a therapist or doctor willing and able to talk about my sexuality.
- I am guaranteed to find sex education literature for couples with my sexual orientation.
- Because of my sexual orientation, I do not need to worry that people will harass me.
- I have no need to qualify my straight identity.
- My masculinity/femininity is not challenged because of my sexual orientation.
- I am not identified by my sexual orientation.
- I can be sure that if I need legal or medical help my sexual orientation will not work against me.
- If my day, week, or year is going badly, I need not ask of each negative episode or situation whether it has sexual orientation overtones.
- Whether I rent or download a movie or go to a theater, I can be sure I will not have trouble finding my sexual orientation represented.
- I am guaranteed to find people of my sexual orientation represented in the curriculum, faculty, and administration.

- I can walk in public with my significant other and not have people double-take or stare.
- I can choose to not think politically about my sexual orientation.
- I do not have to worry about telling my roommate about my sexuality. It is assumed I am a heterosexual.
- I can remain oblivious of the language and culture of LGBTQ folk without feeling in my culture any penalty for such obliviousness.
- I can go for months without being called straight.
- I'm not grouped because of my sexual orientation.
- My individual behavior does not reflect on people who identify as heterosexual.
- In everyday conversation, the language my friends and I use generally assumes my sexual orientation: for example, sex inappropriately referring to only heterosexual sex or family meaning only heterosexual adults who have children.
- People do not assume I am experienced in sex (or that I even have it!) merely because of my sexual orientation.
- I can kiss a person of the opposite gender on the street or in the cafeteria without being watched and stared at.
- Nobody calls me straight with maliciousness.
- People can use terms that describe my sexual orientation and mean positive things (e.g., "straight as an arrow," "standing up straight," or "straightened out") instead of demeaning terms (e.g., "ewww, that's gay" or being "queer").
- I am not asked to think about why I am straight.
- I can be open about my sexual orientation without worrying about my job.

DAILY EFFECTS OF CISGENDER PRIVILEGE

These statements are also based on Peggy McIntosh's article on white privilege and are taken from a number of cisgender privilege questionnaires (see below for references). These dynamics are but a few examples of the privilege which cisgender people have. Trans-identified, gender queer and gender non-conforming people have a range of different experiences, but cannot count on most of these conditions in their lives.

- I can use public restrooms without fear of verbal abuse, physical intimidation, or arrest
- I can use public facilities such as gym locker rooms and store changing rooms without stares, fear, or anxiety.
- My validity as a man/woman/human is not based on how much surgery I've had or how well I "pass" as non-transgender.
- I have the ability to walk through the world and generally blend-in, not being constantly stared or gawked at, whispered about, pointed at, or laughed at because of my gender expression.
- Strangers call me by the name I provide, and don't ask what my "real name" [birth name] is and then assume that they have a right to call me by that name.
- I can reasonably assume that my ability to acquire a job will not be denied on the basis of my gender identity/expression.
- I can flirt, date and form a relationship and not fear that my biological status may be cause for rejection or attack, nor will it cause my partner to question their sexual orientation.
- If I end up in the emergency room, I do not have to worry that my gender will keep me from receiving appropriate treatment.
- I am not required to undergo an extensive psychological evaluation in order to receive basic medical care.

- I can easily find role models and mentors to emulate who share my identity.
- Hollywood accurately depicts people of my gender in films and television, and does not solely make my identity the focus of a dramatic storyline, or the punchline for a joke.
- I am able to assume that everyone I encounter will understand my identity, and not think I'm confused, misled, or hell-bound when I reveal it to them.
- I can purchase clothes that match my gender identity without being refused service/mocked by staff or questioned.
- I can purchase shoes that fit my gender expression without having to order them in special sizes or ask someone to custom-make them.
- No stranger checking my identification or drivers license will ever insult or glare at me because my name or sex does not match the sex they believed me to be based on my gender expression.
- I can reasonably assume that I will not be denied services at a hospital, bank, or other institution because the staff does not believe the gender marker on my ID card matches my gender identity.
- I am able to tick a box on a form for gender without someone disagreeing, and telling me not to lie.
- I can go to places with friends on a whim knowing there will be bathrooms there I can use.
- I don't have to remind my extended family over and over to use proper gender pronouns (e.g., after transitioning).
- I don't have to deal with old photographs that did not reflect who I truly am.
- I never considered hiding my body parts by binding or tucking.
- It is unlikely that I would consider changing my voice.

Literature can be an effective resource for exploring issues related to diversity of sexuality, gender identity/ expression, and inclusion within a GSA support group or within the classroom. However, it is critical that teachers or other facilitators working with learners in GSA groups or other settings carefully preview, select, and plan for the use of these resources to ensure that they are used effectively and that learners benefit from reading and discussing the resource.

The list of books that follow may be useful resources. However, they have not been reviewed through a Manitoba Education and Advanced Learning formal resource review process, nor are they endorsed by the Department, and they do not carry a Manitoba recommended designation.

All literature or other educational resource selections should be reviewed by school division staff before they are used by students. In this way, learner sensitivities and the perspectives of the student population, as well as the appropriateness of the resource for the intended learning objectives are taken into account. In addition, the effectiveness of a particular resource will depend greatly on what the teacher or facilitator does in terms of preparing the audience before reading, as well as the needs and interaction of students during and post reading.

Absolutely, Positively Not (2005) by David LaRochelle. In a touching, sometimes hilarious coming-out story, Steven DeNarski, 16, tries to deny he is gay. . . . The wry, first-person narrative is wonderful as it goes from personal angst to outright farce (Steven takes a pet golden retriever to the school dance). The characters are drawn with surprising depth, and Steven finds quiet support, as well as betrayal, in unexpected places. Many readers, gay and straight, will recognize Steven’s need to talk to someone.

Am I Blue? Coming Out from the Silence (1994), edited by Marion Dane Bauer, is a collection of short stories for young adults which addresses issues of homosexuality. Some of the protagonists have gay friends or family members, like Willie in “Holding.” Some of these young adults are discovering that they feel attracted to people of the same sex and are questioning their sexual orientation, as in the title story. Others, like the young people in “Parents’ Night,” have determined that they are homosexual and now must confront society, family, and friends. Awards include ALA Best Books for Young Adults; ALA Recommended Book for Reluctant Young Adult Readers; 1995 ALA Gay-Lesbian-Bisexual Book Award for Literature; 1995 Lambda Literary Award for Children and Young Adults; and 1995 Minnesota Book Award for older children.

Between Mom and Jo (2006) by Julie Anne Peters has been named an Honor Book for the first ever James Cook Teen Book Award given by the Ohio Library Council. The award recognizes books that promote and celebrate cultural, ethnic, and social diversity; demonstrate excellence in writing; and have a wide appeal to a teen audience. It has also been chosen as Rainbow Reads by the Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, and Transgendered Round Table of the American Library Association.

“Jo promised Nick they’d always be together. So did Mom. When you’re a stupid little kid you believe what your parents tell you. You want to believe that your life will be good and nothing will change and everything—everyone—goes on forever. It’s not until later you find out people are liars, forever is a myth, and a kid with two moms should never be put in the position of having to choose between them.”

From the Notebooks of Melanin Sun (1995) by Jacqueline Woodson: Thirteen-year-old Melanin Sun has always had a close relationship with his mother, a single parent. He is surprised when she tells him that she has fallen in love with a white woman. Worried that this relationship means that she doesn’t love him, an African-American male, Melanin shuts his mother out of his life. After a confrontation, he agrees to spend the day with his mother and her partner, Kristen. It is through meeting Kristen that Melanin learns how important family is, and rejoices in the fact that his mother will always have a place for him in her life.

Funny Boy is Shyam Selvadurai’s first novel; it won the Lambda Literary Award for Best Gay Men’s Novel as well as the Smithbooks/Books in Canada First Novel Award in 1994. In this remarkable debut novel, a boy’s bittersweet passage to maturity and sexual awakening is set against escalating political tensions in Sri Lanka during the seven years leading up to the 1983 riots. Arjie Chelvaratnam is a Tamil boy growing up in an extended family in Colombo. It is through his eyes that the story unfolds and we meet a delightful, sometimes eccentric, cast of characters. Arjie’s journey from the luminous simplicity of childhood days into the more intricately shaded world of adults—with its secrets, its injustices, and its capacity for violence—is a memorable one, as time and time again the true longings of the human heart are held against the way things are.

Hear Me Out: In 2004, Teens Educating and Confronting Homophobia (T.E.A.C.H.) published a book of stories written by peer facilitators about their coming out experiences. These stories are based upon the stories the peer facilitators use to engage participants during T.E.A.C.H. workshops. Critically acclaimed, the book received attention across Canada upon its publication.

Kooloids (1998) by Rabih Alameddine: An extraordinary literary debut, this book is about the AIDS epidemic, the civil war in Beirut, death, sex, and the meaning of life. Daring in form as well as content, Kooloids turns the traditional novel inside out and hangs it on the clothesline to air.

The Little Black Book for Girlz: A Book on Healthy Sexuality (2006) and The Little Black Book for Guys: Guys Talk about Sex (2008) by youth for youth: St. Stephen's Community House, a community-based social service agency in Toronto, engaged a diverse group of teens looking for the real deal about sexuality. To find answers, they collected stories, poetry, and artwork from other youth. They also interviewed health experts to get the facts about issues young people face. The result? An honest and powerful mix of real-life examples and life-saving info.

Luna (2004) by Julie Anne Peters has been chosen by the American Library Association for their 2009 Great Stories CLUB. The Great Stories CLUB (Connecting Libraries, Under-served teens, and Books) is a reading and discussion program designed to reach under-served and at-risk youth through books that are relevant to their lives.

“From as early as she can remember, Regan O’Neill has known that her brother Liam was different. That he was, in fact, a girl. Transgender. Having a transgender brother has never been a problem for Regan—until now. Liam (or Luna, as she prefers to be called by her chosen name) is about to transition. What does it mean, transitioning? Dressing like a girl? In public? Does Liam expect Regan to embrace this decision, to welcome his sex change? She's always kept her brother's secret, always been his confidante, but now Regan's acceptance and love will be put to the test."

She Walks for Days Inside a Thousand Eyes: A Two Spirit Story (2008) by Sharron Proulx-Turner. Sharron Proulx-Turner combines poetry and history to delve into the little-known lives of two-spirit women. Regarded with both wonder and fear when first encountered by the West, First Nations women living with masculine and feminine principles in the same body had important roles to play in society, as healers and visionaries, before they were suppressed during the colonial invasion. She walks for days inside a thousand eye (a two-spirit story) creatively juxtaposes first-person narratives and traditional stories with the voices of contemporary two-spirit women, voices taken from nature, and the teachings of Water, Air, Fire and Mother Earth.

So Hard to Say (2004) by Alex Sanchez. Frederick is the shy new boy and Xio is the bubbly chica who lends him a pen on the first day of class. They become fast friends-but when Xio decides she wants to be more than friends, Frederick isn't so sure. He loves hanging out with Xio and her crew, but he doesn't like her that way. Instead, he finds himself thinking more and more about Victor, the captain of the soccer team. Does that mean Frederick's gay?

Stealing Nasreen (2007) by Farzana Doctor: Nasreen Bastawala is an Indo-Canadian lesbian and burnt-out psychologist who meets and becomes enmeshed in the lives of Shaffiq and Salma Paperwala, new immigrants from Mumbai. Both Shaffiq and Salma develop confusing attractions to Nasreen. For Shaffiq this causes him to bring home and hide things he "finds" in her office. Salma's crush on Nasreen harkens back memories and regrets about a lesbian affair that ended badly years ago.

Zami: A New Spelling of My Name (1982) by Audre Lorde: This biomythography traces Audre Lorde's life from her childhood in Harlem through her discovery and acceptance of her self as a black, lesbian woman in the late 1950s. Masterfully crafted by the profound and artistic Lorde, Zami reads like musical poetry. Through her life experiences, Lorde carefully forges a path to locate her position in the world. Ultimately, naming and accepting difference are the tools necessary for Lorde's ability to stay alive and stay human.

PARTICIPATE IN PRIDE EVENTS

Does your community have a Pride? Look it up on the Queer Calendar in this kit or on MyGSA.ca if you aren't sure.

If so, take part in marching and/or performing. Do a dance routine or make a float!

If not, why not? (See "Do a Campaign.")

DO WORKSHOPS

Using your collective knowledge and the information provided in this kit and on MyGSA.ca, put together your own anti-heterosexism, anti-homophobia, anti-biphobia, anti-transphobia, and intersectionality workshops.

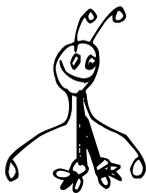

FUNDRAISER

Do something for your community to raise funds for your group. Need ideas? Start a topic on the MyGSA.ca discussion forums and brainstorm with other students from across the country!

HAVE AN EVENT

Choose a date from the Queer Calendar included in this kit and on MyGSA.ca and learn more about it. Have an event to celebrate or commemorate it.

PLAY GAMES

Try the “Icebreakers” (page 42) or “A Sociometry of Oppressions” (page 102). There are also activities included in the Educators’ Section of the kit. Look there for even more ideas!

GOOD LUCK & HAVE FUN! If you encounter any obstacles along the way, talk to your school staff advisors, teachers, guidance counsellors, and school administration. Grades: 10-12

Time: 30 to 60 minutes

Objectives:

- to introduce the concepts of privilege and oppression and that all individuals are affected by them;
- to develop a better understanding of the complexity of individuals within our society;
- to increase awareness and understanding of the meanings of power and control;
- to gain a better understanding of how and why our culture maintains the status quo; and
- to develop empathy for others.

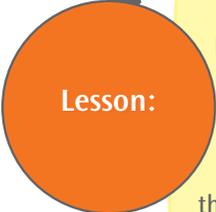

Context:

The basic premise for this experiential educational exercise came from Logan et al. (1996) who were educating social work students about heterosexual privilege. Although this educational tool still includes sexual orientation/identity, it has been expanded to include gender, race/ethnicity, age, class, occupation, ability, and religion. It is expanded here to give a sense of the interconnections and complexity of identity within the multiple structures of oppression in a hierarchical, capitalist, patriarchal society. Although the activity is complex, students can gain a sense of these issues through role play and assuming other identities.

Preparation:

- Photocopy and cut identity cards.
- If necessary, photocopy the Sociometry of Oppressions Question Sheets to read out to the group.
- A fairly large open space is needed which often necessitates moving furniture or using a gym or hall instead of a classroom.
- A class of about 15-20 participants seems ideal, but it can be used with smaller or larger numbers.
- About half an hour is needed to complete the exercise, although this will vary depending on the amount of time it takes for debriefing each participant.

Lesson:

Explain that participants will be given an identity card and asked to move forward one step (or its equivalent if there are wheelchair participants) when answering affirmatively to a series of questions. It is helpful to explain that everyone will be taking the same amount of risk in playing the game. If it seems the students may be reluctant, try using a “fish bowl” technique, where some students do the activity and others watch. (All the students report on what they learned from the activity. It does not work as well, but is one way to adapt this for shy students.)

Hand out cards to each participant. Instruct them not to show their cards to other participants. You may need to help some participants individually if they have questions about their identity card. If you have a small number of participants, try to pick identities so that you have a mix of sexual orientations, genders, ethnic origins, religious denominations, and abilities.

Have participants line up against a wall. Start with all participants facing towards the wall. Ask those who can be open about their sexual orientation to turn around and face forward—you may choose to broaden this by asking all those who can be open about their own sexual orientation and gender identity as well as the sexual orientations and gender identities of their loved ones to turn around and face forward.

Read out the questions regarding social and economic privileges which are worded so that those who can participate in the activity (e.g., take out a loan) can take a step forward. Those who would not be able to do that in our society must remain where they are. After reading out all the questions, and allowing participants to move forward to various degrees, have participants stay in their resulting positions of privilege when the questions are finished.

Ask each one in turn to read out their identity and discuss what the experience was like for her or him. You are actually debriefing each participant, but others will usually join in the discussion as this process continues. Be sure to have each and every student discuss what the experience was like for her or him in order to ensure they can all make sense of what they experienced. As in any experiential activity, be prepared for the possibility of someone's personal experiences being triggered so that further debriefing may be needed. Participants are asked to take on a pseudo-identity (a type of role-playing) here, which usually does not trigger major personal revelations.

After each student has shared what it was like, discuss how privilege works and how those with it can be successful, while those without it find themselves falling behind in our society. Talk about intersectionality and “double and triple oppressions.” This is when a person has a number of interconnecting factors holding them back (e.g., racism, homophobia, and transphobia). Discuss the reason this happens in our society. Why are groups oppressed? What is the purpose of oppressing a group of people? Whose needs does it serve? Is it acceptable? Legal? Fair? Ethical? What can we do to change this? How can we do it? Who is responsible for what is happening in our society? What did we learn from this discussion?

Related Activities:

- Have the students write a journal about any of the questions above that they are interested in.
- Share with the students some historical examples of oppression, such as Apartheid, the Holocaust, Black slavery in the USA, the Stonewall Riots, and the continuing oppression of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, two-spirited, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) community. Have them research a group of people (or a specific person) and the oppression they have suffered and present their findings to the class.

Share your thoughts about this exercise on the MyGSA.ca discussion forums!

Sociometry of Oppressions Questions:

These questions are asked once individuals have their pseudo-identity cards (which they are instructed not to show to others) and are lined up, facing a wall.

1. If you are comfortable being open about your sexual orientation and gender identity with those close to you (i.e., “out” in most situations), please turn around and face the centre of the room. Optional: If you are not free to be open about the sexual orientation and/or gender identity of each of your friends and family members, please turn around again and face the wall.

2. Can you expect to speak openly and easily about your sexual orientation and/or gender identity at school or at work without fear of harassment or negative consequences?

3. Do you feel safe walking alone on the streets after dark?

4. Do you expect to be treated fairly by the police?

5. Do you expect that you and your body will be treated with respect and dignity at school or work, without fear of harassment?

6. Can you go to the corner store on foot quickly and easily?

7. Can you walk by a group of teenagers without fear of insults or harassment?

8. Do you expect your children to attend school without discrimination or harassment?

9. Can you legally marry?

10. Do you expect to be financially well off and be able to travel during your retirement?

11. You are being considered for a promotion. Are you secure your personal life or identity will not hinder you?

12. You are in a new social situation and you are asked if you are married. Are you comfortable answering truthfully?

13. Are you comfortable bringing your partner to the school dance?

14. Do you expect to be able to get a large loan from the bank easily?

15. Would it be easy for you to introduce your partner to your family?

16. Do you think that your chances are good when you are interviewed by a social worker to adopt a child?

17. Are you comfortable holding hands with your partner in public?

18. If you became sick with AIDS, would some people say you were an innocent victim rather than you deserved it?

19. Can you expect to be a religious leader in your community?

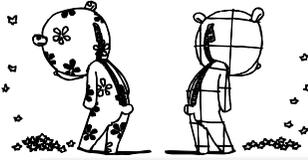

20. Can you discuss your religious practices and holidays openly at work or school without fear of harassment?

21. Can you communicate easily with others you have just met?

22. If your partner died, would you be automatically recognized as the next-of-kin?
