

Simon dit

Learning situation: A listening game for students to hear the vocabulary for parts of the body in complete sentences.

Teacher modelling and oral interaction:

- The teacher (or Simon) calls out commands in French such as, Simon dit touchez le nez. The students touch their noses. If the teacher says, Touchez la tête. The students should not follow this command. The students who do follow the command, sit down but are reintegrated into the game after having sat out one turn only. The goal is to have students participating as much as possible.
- Once students are very familiar with the game and with the vocabulary and structures, they can then lead a portion of the game themselves.
